$7.5 MILLION IN NEGOTIABLE SECURITIES WERE BURNED

Certificates Not Stolen

. . . RESERVE BANK SURE

San Francisco (AP)—Negotiable securities worth $7.5 million vanished from tightly-guarded Federal Reserve Bank vaults here. They probably were burned by accident and no one is the loser, the bank's president said Wednesday.

"In our opinion, it was a million-to-one human error and nobody is being blamed or disciplined for it," Eliot Swan told newsmen at the massive, heavily policed Federal Reserve building.

"Any possibility that the certificates — 7 of them with a face value of $1 million each and 5 more worth $100,000 apiece — could have been stolen has been eliminated. We believe that somehow they were burned with trash or waste paper at the bank here."

Undoubtedly

On this basis, he said, the Treasury undoubtedly will reimburse the Reserve Bank in full, writing off the missing certificates as "unissued." The bank keeps a supply of unissued certificates in its vaults.

The loss was discovered last August and confirmed Wednesday after the San Francisco Examiner reported them missing. The newspaper speculated on the possibility that it could be the biggest theft in United States history.

But Swan said Wednesday that the Secret Service and other government investigators were convinced no theft was involved.

No trace has been found of the 12 missing certificates. And apparently no one has tried to collect on the attached coupons, Swan said.

Calling it a "first time" for such a tremendous security loss, Swan said this was the biggest one "to my knowledge, certainly in the Federal Reserve System."

The certificates were held by the San Francisco bank as collateral on loans to member banks.

165 Members

There are about 165 members of the Federal Reserve system in the 10 western states making up this 12th District.

Swan said the bank makes periodic audits of the hundreds of batches of securities it holds. At the time of an audit in May 1962 the certificates were in their proper envelope. In early August another audit was made and they were gone.

The loss was not disclosed earlier, Swan said, because "we thought it was good investigative procedure not to reveal it earlier."

Friends Pay Boy Tribute

. . . IN WEST VIRGINIA

Elizabeth, W.Va. (AP)—More people than the census lists as the population of this central West Virginia town opened their hearts and purses last week in the burial tribute to a friend.

Ronald Victor Costly was the victim of a heart attack March 14. He was president of the student body of Wirt County High School, an outstanding athlete and an honor student. Ronnie, 19, also was the lone Negro among the school's 400 students.

The funeral was held March 16 in the school gymnasium. More than 1,000 persons attended — or 250 more than the number who live in this farm town which hasn't a single Negro family. All but 75 present were white.

Donations

Expenses for the funeral came from the "Ronnie Costly Fund" initiated by the townspeople. About $500 was donated.

What brought on this tribute?

"We all loved Ronnie. He was an outstanding boy who overcame tremendous obstacles to win the respect and admiration of everyone who knew him," School Principal Ray G. Jarvis said.

Born in Washington, D.C. Ronnie had lived with his grandparents on a farm near here since he was 5. He got up each morning at 5 o'clock to help with the chores before walking a mile to the school bus for the 10 mile ride into town.

Among First

When the school was integrated in 1957, he was among several Negroes admitted. He would have been the first member of his race to graduate from the school which draws students from throughout the county.

"The most amazing thing about Ronnie was that his achievements were entirely his own," Jarvis said. When he ran for student body president last year we had a hard time finding anyone to oppose him. He was so popular that he won by a 10 to 1 margin. In fact, Ronnie was the most popular person in the school.

"The day after he died it was terrible. Students were crying openly in the classrooms and many wandered through the halls with a lost look. We had to call an assembly so the school chaplain could calm them."

Hundreds

Ronnie's grandmother, Mrs. Ernest Mayle, received hundreds of sympathy cards.

"White foks who I had never seen before came by the house to help out and express their sympathy," she said. "Ronnie was a good boy, when he wasn't helping out around the house he had his nose stuck in a book. I never saw anyone so set on book learning."

The Mayle family farm doesn't produce enough food to feed the family. They are welfare recipients, but they scraped $13 together, to show their appreciation to the school by buying a book for the new library.

Park Area Zone Shift Is Okayed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

"A-2" single-family zoning for a 1,000-by-600-foot tract on Van Dorn east of 56th was approved Wednesday by the City-County Planning Commission.

F. Pace Woods, a member of the commission, represented the tract's owners—Earle M. and Eugenia A. Constable

OTHER PLANNING ACTION, PAGE 28

—after disqualifying himself from voting on the matter.

Woods also urged preliminary approval of a residential plat, proposed as Constable's Antelope Parkland Addition, but the commission deferred action until receipt of a required report from the city engineer on streets, utilities and storm drainage.

In conditionally recommending the change to the less restrictive single-family zoning class from "A-1 residential," the commission noted the tract lies within the area proposed by the Comprehensive Plan for park or recreational-use development.

The commission recommended the City Council determine whether the property should be acquired for park development before acting on the zoning change.

The tract is in the immediate vicinity of Holmes Park (Antelope Creek dam-reservoir) in southeastern Lincoln.

Labor Solons Oust Bill To Extend Jobless Pay

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill which would extend the duration of unemployment benefits during periods of high-level unemployment was killed Wednesday by the Legislature's Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

The measure, LB493, heard earlier, died on a 5-0 vote.

In other action, the committee heard and held 4 bills, 3 of which attracted opposition from management.

The State AFL-CIO and the Associated Industries of Nebraska joined hands to support LB607, an amended compromise bill raising maximum unemployment benefits from $34 to $38 weekly.

New Restrictions

In return for its support of boosted maximum payments, management won new restrictions in application of the employment security law.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the measure, praised both union and employer organizations "which have agreed so that the state can go forward in its labor-management relations."

Only opposition was voiced by Bernard Koyen of Omaha, representing Paramount Paper Products Co., who objected to "abuses of the current law . . . whereby persons can freeload on unemployment benefits."

Increase Cost

State Labor Commissioner Donald Bastemeyer estimated that the increase could cost from $270,000 in a favorable employment year to $620,000 in an unfavorable year.

Management and labor took to their accustomed opposite sides on two proposals, LB544 and LB545, which would boost maximum and minimum payments for workmen's compensation.

Employer spokesmen also lined up in opposition to LB724, an act which would prohibit discrimination in employment because of age.

Signed by 15 senators, the bill is chiefly sponsored by the Nebraska Fraternal Order of the Eagles.

Boosted Benefits

LB544 would boost weekly limits on workmen's compensation benefits from a $37 to $42 maximum and from a $20 to $30 minimum.

After 300 weeks of total disability, maximum payments would be raised from $27.50 to $34.50 and mimimums from $17 to $26.

Payments for burial expenses under the bill would be boosted from a $350 maximum to $500.

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley of Omaha told the committee that the increases are fair. "Injured employes should be able to have bread on the table and retain their pride," he argued.

Management spokesmen contended that Nebraska benefits are "in line with those in surrounding states (a claim disputed by Nisley); that the bill would "increase the cost of doing business" in the state and encourage "malingering."

'May Get More'

Richard McFeeley, assistant manager of the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce, suggested that with addition of social security payments, a disabled worker "may get more than when he worked."

Cost to Nebraska employers in increased insurance premiums would hover between $375,000 and $450,000.

LB545, which included increases contained in LB544 plus the addition of a new formula for determing benefits based on average weekly wages, was opposed by spokesmen for the insurance industry.

There has been no increase in workmen's compensation benefits since 1959.

LB724 is designed to abolish "hiring bias against workers over 40," Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper pointed out. Similar legislation is operative in 16 states, he said.

Employer representatives said the bill would involve "government dictation to business," interfere in private hiring practices and seek to correct a problem best overcome by education.

State Chamber Will Ignore Lincoln Threat To Withdraw

By GERRY WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

State Chamber of Commerce President Richard Spelts said Wednesday that the organization plans to continue showing a film on state budget procedures despite threats by the Lincoln Chamber to withdraw from the state organization.

Lincoln Chamber directors voted unanimously Wednesday to withdraw from the State Chamber if the film is allowed to continue circulation without revision.

The Lincoln Chamber emphasized that the film narrated by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee, should be checked for accuracy of facts.

'Prejudical'

Some directors said the film is "so prejudicial to Nebraska's interests" it must be withdrawn in the interest of fairness.

Spelts said the film received a "standing ovation" in Omaha last Monday, when viewed by directors of the Omaha Chamber and executives of insurance companies.

Spelts, former state Republican chairman, said, "Certain popular public officials and progressive Lincoln groups" were attempting to keep a lid on thought-provoking programs.

"This program has been given enthusiastic support wherever it has been shown outside of the Lincoln area," Spelts said.

'Refuse To Bend'

"We refuse to bend to these isolated pressure groups."

However, at the Lincoln Chamber board meeting, it was mentioned that at least two other Nebraska city chambers of commerce had also threatened to withdraw from the State Chamber if the film is allowed to continue circulation.

George Mechling, president of the Associated Industries of Nebraska which jointly produced the film with the State Chamber, said:

"It is most unfortunate that a small group has read into this film strip distortions or implications that we feel honestly are not present."

"We feel it is strictly nonpartisan, that it is educational, and it is not critical of past or present administrations, nor its administrators.

"We expressly state that it is not designed to promote individuals in office or indicate any department is receiving too much or too little an appropriation," he added.

Objective Laudable

Jack Thompson, former Lincoln Chamber president, said the basic objective of the film is "laudable" and seeking improved budgeting is "sound" but "here is where we part company."

The film starts from "the unspoken premise that we're poor; this state spends much less per capita than most other states," he added.

Board member Joe R. Seacrest said he had checked figures and discovered that one of the base years used in comparing state expenditures —1939—was the lowest tax year in Nebraska since 1916.

A check with the director of internal revenue in Omaha revealed that federal taxes collected in Nebraska in 1939-40 were $20.7 million, while in 1961-62, federal taxes collected totaled $613 million, Seacrest said.

He pointed out that this shows a nearly 30-fold increase, while Nebraska's expenditures are only between 5 and 6 times what they were in 1940.

"We're 49th or 50th nationally in expenditures . . . while we rank about midway in per capita income," Seacrest added.

William Gold II, former Chamber president present at the meeting, referred to the quoted figures in the film of the bienniums 1939-41, 1954-56 and 1961-63, as "smacks of partial truths which make the big lie."

Governor Frank Morrison, who attended the meeting at his own request, identified himself as "the chief target of the film."

"Nobody in the State Chamber of Commerce or Associated Industries of Nebraska has ever come to me and told me of one person in state government who is wasting tax money or one agency which should be eliminated."

"Had this happened I would have eliminated such an agency if possible and would have fired a person wasting tax money," the governor said.

In the film, Marvel describes state administrators as "bureaucratic functionaries" who have assumed legislative policy-making powers.

Morrison commended his administration and all previous ones, stating, "I want to express my personal gratitude to those people who are devoting their time and effort to our government."

Queried about the statements made by the Chamber and Gov. Morrison concerning the film, Sen. Marvel said he would have no comment at this time.

Park Land Acquisition Measure Is Advanced

The Judiciary Committee Wednesday further amended and then advanced to the Legislature LB394 which would give the State Game Commission the power of eminent domain for park purposes.

Wednesday's vote to advance the bill was 5-1.

The committee had voted previously to advance the measure, but then held it for further amendment.

As originally drawn, the bill would have extended the commission's eminent domain powers to acquire land for state parks, historical parks, recreation areas and wayside areas upon specific legislative approval.

Under the amendments now, the bill limits use of eminent domain to obtaining sites for projects in the commission's 10-year developement plan submitted to the 1961 Legislature.

It specifically authorizes the commission to use the procedure in acquiring land for the development of Indian Cave State Park in Nemaha and Richardson Counties, Ash Hollow State Historical Park in Garden County, and two wayside areas in Buffalo County located at the Shelton and Gibbon interchanges on the Interstate Highway.

Police Break Negro March

. . . IN GREENWOOD, MISS.

Greenwood, Miss. (AP)—Negroes sang, chanted and shouted for freedom Wednesday night hours after police turned back a group marching on the courthouse in a civil rights demonstration.

Negro ministers told about 250 persons in a church not to fear the white man but to return to the courthouse Thursday and register to vote.

About 100 other Negroes standing outside the church heard a series of speakers encourage them to register.

The Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss., a representative of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said "We plan to change the political structure of this country and this town. White people are afraid of Negroes, especially here in the South."

Like Elephant

Jesse Harris, a leader of the Student Non-Violent Committee (SNCC), said, "The Negro is like an elephant with a big string around his neck —but he doesn't realize his strength."

The Negroes—both in the church and outside the Turner Chapel — sang freedom songs. They clapped their hands and stomped their feet as they sang "I'm here working for freedom. Freedom is always on my mind."

In the demonstration earlier Wednesday, police said 11 "ringleaders," some of them workers for SNCC, were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

A police dog helped disperse the crowd. Negro spokesmen said one man was nipped and another had his trousers ripped by the dog's teeth. Police declined comment.

About 150 joined the march to show support for a Negro voter registration drive and to ask police protection against nightrider violence, Negro leaders said.

The registration drive in this delta plantation area, where Negroes outnumber whites almost 2-1, has touched off 3 incidents involving gunfire. One SNCC worker is recovering from .45 bullet wounds.

The demonstration formed up about 10 hours after two shotgun blasts of heavy buckshot pellets were fired into the home of Dewey Greene Sr. No one was hit.

Greene has one son seeking admission to the University of Mississippi and another working in the SNCC drive. He was at home with his wife and 7 children when the blasts tore through the front door and a bedroom window.

Photoengravers Reject Pact

. . . UNION MOVE STUNS INDUSTRY

New York (AP) — Photoengravers turned down strike settlement terms Wednesday night, indefinitely prolonging New York's multimillion dollar, 110-day newspaper blackout.

The vote of 191 to 111 against the proposed photoengravers' contract terms came as a stunning shock to the industry, which had been geared for a quick resumption of publication. Morning editions had been prepared to go to press within a few hours.

Two of the morning dailies, the Times and the Herald Tribune, already had announced that their return to the news-stands would be at a price per copy double that when the strike began.

Lines Parted

Picket lines outside struck plants parted earlier in the day to let machinists and electricians in to ready mechanical equipment for publication, in expectation that the 320 photoengravers would ratify the settlement.

The AFL-CIO Photoengravers Union had scheduled its ratification meeting for 4 p.m. But it was two hours late in getting under way. The rank-and-file expressed dissatisfaction during the meeting over wages and vacation clauses in the proposed contract.

The settlement formula was proposed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner —and was based on the terms accepted by printers on 8 closed New York dailies.

Provided Package

It provided a $12.63 a week contract package spread over two years, including an increase of $6.50 in wages and fringe benefits the first year, and $6.13 the second.

Union leaders had predicted ratification. However, the negotiating committee split 8-2 in accepting the terms on a tentative basis.

Prior to the rejection, morning papers had expected to hit the streets before midnight, with afternoon dailies returning to the stands Thursday. It was to have been a gala debut after nearly 16 weeks of idleness.

Being Recalled

Some 20,000 newspaper employes were in the process of being recalled. Most of them had been jobless since the blackout began Dec. 8 with a strike of 3,000 union printers.

Frank McGowan, president of the photengravers union, said after the rejection:

"We will have to sit down with the publishers. The major objection from the floor was the lack of a 35 hour work week."

Publishers had agreed to a reduction in the work week from 36¼ to 35 hours, but it was not to have taken effect until the second year of the contract.

Unwilling

Despite McGowan's suggestion of further negotiations, the publishers were on record as unwilling to go beyond Wagner's settlement formula. They had warned they were not prepared to negotiate further on the terms.

Reds Protest Raids On Cuba

...U.S. DENIES CHARGES

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union charged Wednesday the United States is violating the agreement that eased the Caribbean missile crisis by backing anti-Castro exiles making hit-and-run raids on Cuba.

A Russian diplomatic note specifically protested an attack on the Soviet freighter Lgov, shot up by exiles March 17 at the sugar port of Isabela de Sagua, on Cuba's north coast. It declared the United States was responsible.

Coincidentally, another Russian freighter was reported to have been attacked in Isabela de Sagua Tuesday night.

Damaged

A spokesman for a Cuban exile organization called Commando L told the Miami News a raiding party severely damaged the freighter and left it in need of repair to keep it from sinking. He said the raiders returned without casualties to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean."

Premier Khrushchev's government centered on the Lgov incident.

The note called on the U.S. government for "resolute measures to prevent similar provocative actions in the future."

The U.S. State Department denied the charge even before receiving the text from Moscow. Press Officer Lincoln White referred Washington newsmen to earlier American condemnations of the March 17 raid.

"The U.S. government is doing everything it possibly can to prevent such incidents from happening from U.S. territory," White said.

The Soviet note declared: "American officials have repeatedly acknowledged the fact that the counterrevolutionary groups are financed by the United States and enjoy its full protection.

Dangerous

"By offering the Cuban counterrevolutionaries its territory and material means for organizing piratical attacks against the Republic of Cuba, the U.S.A. is actually bringing about a dangerous aggravation of the situation in the area of the Caribbean Sea and throughout the world.

"It is quite obvious that the responsibility . . . rests entirely with the government of the United States. Encouragement of such action by the United States not only flagrantly violates the generally accepted standards of international law on the freedom of navigation and fundamental principles of the United Nations charter, but also is contrary to the agreement reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the United States (last fall) on the crisis in the area of the Caribbean."

The U.S. government denied March 18 that the United States was involved in the Lgov incident. It declared it is "strongly opposed to hit-and-run attacks on Cuba by splinter refugee groups." President Kennedy said an official investigation indicated the attack was not staged from American territory.

Encouraged

The Soviet note charged, that the U.S. State Department has made statements which in fact "encourage such bandit-like actions."

It pointed out that spokesmen of the two exiled organizations involved in the Lgov operation —Alpha 66 and the Second National Front of Escambray — had told a Washington news conference that their men fired on the ship and that these groups planned to continue the attacks. It ignored their declaration that the raiders' base was outside the American sphere.

The note said the freighter was machine-gunned, but mentioned neither damage nor casualties.

TFX Probers Get Questions

. . . FROM McNAMARA, FRIEND

Washington (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in a surprise move Wednesday gave Senate investigators a list of questions they want witnesses to answer in the TFX warplane contract inquiry.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee conducting the inquiry, received the written list at an unannounced visit by the cabinet officers on Capitol Hill.

He said the questions would be asked.

But after a two-hour subcommittee session with high ranking military officers who made recommendations in the TFX contract award — that it go to the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash., rather than the General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., that McNamara selected — McClellan said the questions were not asked.

Not Yet

"Not yet," he told reporters. "We haven't got to that point."

McNamara's contention that General Dynamics offered a better plane at lower eventual cost is being looked into by the committee. The officers questioned Wednesday in closed session served on a "source selection board" that reportedly recommended Boeing's design as cheaper and better.

McClellan would not disclose the contents of the McNamara questions, saying only they were intended to "bring out evidence they (McNamara and Kennedy) wanted in the record."

Concern

Kennedy's appearance with the defense secretary seemed to emphasize administration concern over the bitter controversy the investigation has stirred between the Pentagon and the subcommittee.

The attorney general has frequently been delegated to handle delicate negotiations on Capitol Hill and elsewhere.

McClellan gave these other details of the meeting:

McNamara and Kennedy asked for it, he would not characterize it as "a peace conference" although it was "a very friendly conversation, it was cordial." Kennedy, he said, offered only "some general remarks," claiming he attended "just as a friend—I just came by with the secretary."

McNamara told newsmen that "we discussed plans for the future of the hearings." He said he had indicated "we are doing everything possible to cooperate in the investigation.

The TFX contract is expected eventually to involve $6.5 billion in federal expenditures to build 1,700 fighter-bombers to be used by both the Air Force and the Navy.

PARK PRESSED TO KEEP REINS

. . . Resist All Pressures

Seoul (AP) — Important military factions Thursday were reported pressing strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park to resist both civilian and Washington pressure and extend his military rule for 4 years.

Informed sources said these factions were advocating stern resistance to civilian demands and free elections even if it means bloodshed and an end to the U.S. aid that keeps this Asian nation financially afloat.

Park, however, was understood to be trying to reach a compromise that might ease mounting U.S. pressure for quicker progress toward civilian rule.

Letter?

Major newspapers said Park had sent a personal letter to President Kennedy explaining his position, but a junta spokesman said he knew nothing about such a letter.

Well informed Korean sources said influential paratroop officers and members of the so-called Kim Chong-pil group were embittered by what they considered Park's reluctance to shed blood, if necessary, to stay in power.

The government publicly maintained its strong stand against civilian demands for an immediate end to military rule but there was increasing feelings that Park would settle for a compromise.

Coalition

A formula put forth in pro-government circles involved a military-civilian coalition regime for perhaps a year before South Korea gets a truly civilian government. If approved by Park this would be a great retreat from his March 16 statement that another 4 years of military rule are necessary in South Korea.

The tough line was reported gaining wide acceptance in elite paratroop units of South Korea's 600,000-man army and the political machine left behind by Kim Chong-pil.

Kim, Park's former army colleague and at one time a master strategist of the military regime, left the country in February after he was accused of trying to grab power.

Cut Away

Kim is known to feel South Korea should cut away from the United States and develop closer ties with other countries, particularly Japan and Nationalist China.

Overt anti-Americanism was injected into South Korea's political crisis Wednesday. Leaflets denouncing alleged U.S. interference in Korean affairs were scattered along Seoul streets.

The leaflets followed by one day word from Washington that the U.S. government disapproved the military regime plan for 4 more years in power.

Heartened

The military regime's main opponents, 11 politicians, were heartened by the Washington statement.

Freeze Pushed Living Cost Up

Washington (AP) — Damage from winter crop freezes pushed the nation's living cost level last month back up to its highest point in history.

The Labor Department reported Wednesday its consumer price index rose by one-tenth of 1% in February to reach 106.1% of the 1957-59 average. This matched the peak of last September. Consumer costs now are about 1.2% above a year ago.

The February increase was slight. It meant a market basket load costing $10 in the 1957-59 period cost $10.60 in January and $10.61 in February. Put another way, the 1957-59 dollar is now worth 94 cents.

Otherwise

Arnold Chase, assistant labor statistics commissioner for prices, said that without a sudden increase of more than 12% in average retail costs of fresh fruits and vegetables in January and February the over-all living cost index would have remained unchanged.

The rise in produce prices was caused by freezes and other adverse crop conditions in December and January in Florida, Texas and California.

The cost of a glass of fresh orange juice rose 18% in two months; a glass of concentrated juice, with water added, was 35% higher; lettuce rose 36% and cabbage 59%.

A seasonal increase in clothing prices also contributed to the February living cost rise, especially in female apparel with the end of January sales bargains and introduction of new spring finery.

Chase said living costs for March will probably turn out to be unchanged from February. He said the crop freeze effects have probably reached their peak at grocery stores and meat prices have been declining a bit.

The average cost of services — a wide variety of items ranging from household operation, fuel and transportation to movies and haircuts —remained unchanged in February, interrupting a gradual upward climb over many years. Chase said this holds the promise of continued living cost stability.

Wheat Fields Said Damaged

. . . In South Central, Central Areas

Reports of winter-damaged wheat have been received from south central and central Nebraska, but it is too early to tell the ultimate effect on the 1963 wheat crop, a University of Nebraska agronomist said Wednesday.

J. C. Swinbank explained that the wheat plant has remarkable ability to adjust itself to thin stands. However, growing conditions this spring will play a major role in recovery of damaged plants.

"We do not know the extent or seriousness of the problems, but we have received reports from York, Fillmore and Jefferson Counties and from the Holdrege area," Swinbank said.

"Hardest-hit fields were planted too early last fall or were not protected during the winter. Fields that were planted late last fall or were protected by snow or windbreaks appear to be in better shape Differences in the winter hardiness of various varieties also have been noted.

"Although some fields do not look healthy, field observations in the York area show that many plants have partially healthy crowns and were starting to shoot out new tillers. If growing conditions are favorable, these plants may make substantial recovery. We plan to examine plants in these fields again next week to check recovery.

"Experiment Station studies show that a normal yield can be obtained if 65% of the stand remains and growing conditions are favorable. However, if 50% or more of the plants are dead, a loss in yield can be expected.

"Where stands are poor, there may be a weed problem in the months ahead. In some cases, farmers may need to spray for weed control," Swinbank concluded.

Petitions Seek Grand Jury Probe Of G.I. Council

Grand Island (AP) — Petitions calling for a grand jury investigation of the Grand Island City Council are being circulated here and are expected to be filed sometime this week.

Ed Bader reported he is one of those circulating the petitions. Others are north side residents and businessmen, he said.

About 12 or 14 petitions are being circulated and plans are to file the petitions with the Hall County District Court Thursday or Friday, he said.

The group is particularly interested in investigation of recent parking lot transactions and in investigation of land purchased for a water well field here, Bader said.

Summary of Conditions

The Nebraska and Western Iowa area is surrounded by high pressure areas. A weak high pressure continues over the southern and western plateau, with high center over northeastern Arizona. Pressure is falling over the Pacific northwest as far south as central California and a new storm center is moving eastwards through northern California and northwestern Nevada. The weak high pressure over the western Great Lakes area is expected to rapidly move east with troughing developing over the western high plains and north central states.

Air over the high pressure areas is very dry as gulf moisture is being shunted eastward and northward into the central Mississippi Valley. The low along the northern California coast is expected Thursday to move rapidly northeast to central Montana and into central North Dakota by Thursday night, while gulf moisture returns northward and winds shift to the south.

This means that skies will be generally fair Thursday and will continue warm over the two-state Nebraska-Iowa area Thursday night. Thursday night will show increasing cloudiness and be rather windy, but mild.

Jury Pondering Billie Estes Case Can't Reach Verdict; To Try Again

El Paso, Tex. (AP) — The jury pondering the government's complex fraud case against Billie Sol Estes reported Wednesday that it was unable to reach a verdict, but the judge asked it to try again. It agreed.

"This case will have to be tried sometime by somebody," U.S. District Judge R. E. Thomason told the 10 men and 2 women, remarking also that the trial had been very expensive.

Judge Thomason asked the jury foreman, Robbin E. L. Washington, if he thought a verdict could be reached with more time.

Need Understanding

"Aside from more time, there is a need for more understanding," Washington replied. "This case is so massive and there is so much law, it is going to take some more questions. Time is one thing, more information is another."

The foreman mentioned that the jury had sent the court 3 notes, asking such things as definitions of the word fraud and conspiracy.

The youngest member of the jury, Jack C. Walters, 22, an apprentice electrician, told the court that one of the biggest questions of the jury had been the definition of the word fraud.

"I guess half of us had it all confused," he said, "but I think we got it straight now."

Estes was tried on 14 counts charging mail fraud, one charging conspiracy, and one that he sent fraudulent documents across state lines.

Each count involves a transaction arranged by Estes to obtain mortgages on fertilizer tanks. The government charged that the tanks put up as security were nonexistent, and that Estes bilked individuals and finance companies of millions of dollars.

After the jury left the courtroom to resume deliberation, chief defense lawyer John D. Cofer of Austin objected to Judge Thomason's remarks to the jury about the expense of the trial, which the judge said had taken a lot of taxpayers' money.

The judge overruled the objection.

Portugal To Boot Bidault

Lisbon, Portugal (AP) —Portuguese authorities questioned Georges Bidault for hours Wednesday, then let it be known that the French anti-Gaullist leader will be expelled to a country of his choice.

The former French premier could become a man without a country in Europe unless he gives up the fight against President Charles de Gaulle.

"No time limit has been set for his departure, but of course the matter must be solved within the next few days," a government spokesman said.

To Germany

He added that if Bidault encounters obstacles in finding a country to take him in, he will be sent back to West Germany.

The 63-year-old Bidault left West Germany Monday night after the Bavarian government told him he could not campaign from there for the overthrow of De Gaulle.

He and his secretary, Guy Ribeauld, flew to Lisbon under assumed names and turned up at security police headquarters Wednesday after remaining in seclusion at a third-class boarding house. Police questioned them for hours.

Coughing

An employe at the boarding house said "Bidault was coughing badly" on his arrival and "asked for brandy and some pills."

There was speculation that Bidault might seek a haven in Latin America, although it was difficult to see what contribution he could make from across the Atlantic to his pledge to continue his fight against the French president.

The government spokesman said the decision to expel Bidault was taken after he was questioned by the police. But the government had announced even before he flew here that he would not be allowed to use Portugal as a base for political activity.

2-Car Crash Kills Woman

North Platte (AP) — A North Platte woman was fatally injured Wednesday in an intersection collision in the west end of North Platte.

She was Mrs. August Miller, 43, wife of a railroad employe.

Police said the driver of the other car was Ronald Empfield, 17, of North Platte. He was listed in fair condition in a hospital.

Officers were questioning the driver of a 3rd car which they were told may have been involved.

The death was Nebraska's 63rd traffic fatality of the year compared with 49 on the same date a year ago.

Mass For OAS Men

Paris (UPI) — More than 3,000 persons attended religious masses for members of the outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS) killed by the French. In Notre Dame Cathedral 1,000 persons heard a mass for former Lt. Col. Jean-Marie Bastien-Thiry, executed by a firing squad for trying to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle.

Where Roads Lead

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Like a broken record, we constantly hear the charge that government spending is getting out of bounds and that a lot of the money is going down a rat hole. Nebraska is not alone among the states when it comes to debating money matters—where the green stuff will come from and for what will it be spent. Along with it all goes an insinuation that the government is not responsible, that a lot of what it is doing we could do without were it not for the empire building of bureaucrats.

Such might be the thinking of people when they see the Nebraska Department of Roads budget of $98.6 million for the 1963-65 biennium. That is one heck of a lot of money and it represents an almost fantastic increase in spending as it was done a decade and more ago. But we doubt that there is a better budget to demonstrate the fact that spending should be related to need. To understand the budget of the department, all one needs to do is examine the list of projects involved. This is a program that the taxpayer can easily understand and can decide, if he likes, where the budget might be cut.

Spending And Need

But where might such cuts take place? The people of Grand Island might not be too concerned about the Highway 77 improvements south of Lincoln and near Winnebago, for instance, but the people of Lincoln and those who travel north and south through the eastern part of the state are concerned over these roads. At the same time, Lincoln might not be too concerned about certain roads in the central part of the state but a lot of other people would be concerned.

A total of 23 towns, for the first time in their history, will have dustless-surface roads into and out of them. Some of these towns probably have never even been heard of by some people but which one of them would you cut off the list if you wanted to save some money? It takes a little imagination for someone in Lincoln, for instance, to appreciate the meaning of such construction.

Everywhere the Lincoln driver goes, he is on a hard-surfaced road. At worst, his complaint centers on rough paving or paving so narrow it cannot handle with speed the traffic that uses it. But to do all your traveling on a dusty road would be quite an experience. Yet, there are many people in this state who accept gravel in the same manner we accept paving. A total of 465 miles of road will be converted to dustless surface in the 1963-65 biennium. This will still leave more than 1,300 miles of gravel on the state system of highways. And this says nothing of the constant clamor for the addition of more miles to this state system.

But the Highway Commission will not approve additional miles to the system because it cannot even handle the mileage it now has. And these are major roads, not just county section lines. And then we have the many miles of paved highway that no longer do the job that is intended of them. There are the sections where the surface has become so patched you can hardly tell the original paving. There are sections where the traffic load, or hills or curves constitute a threat to the life of those who travel these roads. Not a single cent is being spent that has not been justified by the state's sufficiency rating.

Nebraska has to have such a rating system because of the lack of funds with which to meet all demands. Everything that would be good to do, that has merit, cannot be done so proposals must be given priorities according to their current condition, their use and their relation to other areas and projects in the state.

Elsewhere in the program are found bridges to go along with some of the new work contemplated and to add to the safety of present facilities. And who wants to pinch pennies on bridges where one such narrow structure might claim many lives in the course of its existence? And finally, there is the Interstate Highway that will eventually stretch east and west across the entire state of Nebraska.

Nebraska has barely been able to keep its head above water on this important project. If we lag too far behind, we will be lost in the dust by other states and they will gain the tourism and industrial benefits of this major nationwide transportation network. Anyone would be a fool to say that the road program is not a major one and that it costs a lot of money, both state and federal. And the federal money isn't free, either, as it is only our own income tax payments coming back to us. But where would the program be cut if such were the intention or desire of the state?

Dangers In Lagging

We could cut taxes and save a lot of money by paring the road program but what would happen to our industry that moves over these roads and what would be the reaction of the general public that uses them for all kinds of purposes? What we get out of these road improvements is not just a tax bill, but a convenience and a service that we ourselves want and expect. You don't get a concrete driveway into your garage for nothing and you shouldn't expect an up-to-date highway system for free. As much as anything else, the 1963-65 state program shows we could easily be doing twice what we have planned and still not waste a penny.

Reds Fear Nuclear Arms For Germany

WASHINGTON — U.S. Ambassador Joy Kohler in Moscow has cabled an extremely important report to the State Department warning that if the West German army receives or develops nuclear weapons, the Red army will probably attack.

So great is the fear of German rearmament, and so vivid is the memory of the Nazi penetration into Russia as far as Stalingrad in the last war, that the marshals of the Red army are not going to wait for another German arms build-up this time with nuclear weapons.

In fact the Russian policy toward German armament can best be compared to the American policy toward offensive weapons in Cuba as follows: President Kennedy was willing to risk war over nuclear missiles in Cuba, and the Russians are equally willing to risk war over nuclear weapons in Germany.

They figure that nuclear weapons in German hands would constitute a blackmail weapon against them, just as Kennedy advisers argued during the Cuban crisis that Russian missiles in Cuba were a blackmail weapon against the United States.

The significance of the Kohler report is twofold;

1. — It puts the United States on notice that it faces the alternative of war or of backing away from its ally, West Germany, in case of German nuclear armament.

2. — This is a reversal of what Kohler reported shortly after the Cuban crisis. At that time he cabled that Red army leaders were furious over the removal of Russian missiles from Cuba, that Minister of Defense Malinowsky was bitter, and that Khrushchev had relegated them to the background, getting them out of positions of power inside the Kremlin.

After the Cuban crisis, it will be recalled, Khrushchev made various friendly overtures to Kennedy, including the concession of on-site inspection on Soviet soil for nuclear tests plus terms on Berlin generally acceptable to Mayor Willi Brandt of West Berlin.

Khrushchev also went to East Berlin, and in a historic conference of communist leaders, denounced the Red Chinese position that war is inevitable and induced Walter Ulbricht, chief rabble-rouser of East Germany to pipe down.

However, none of these overtures were accepted by Kennedy. He was torn between his hard-nosed advisers who told him not to budge an inch with Khrushchev and his moderate advisers who told him that if he didn't make some gestures toward Khrushchev, the Red army would return to power in the Kremlin.

NOTE — Ambassador Kohler also reported that at first Khrushchev had been inclined to flirt with De Gaulle following his split with Britain over the Common Market; but that Red army leaders apparently had overruled him. They regarded the prospect of French-German partnership and the building of their own nuclear weapons as far too serious. Hence Khrushchev was overruled and a stiff note sent to Paris condemning the Franco-German partnership.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Frequently my husband suffers severe pain in the back of the neck. It has been diagnosed as a pinched nerve. An acquaintance of his, a dermatologist, said he has the same thing. He spent a great deal of money to cure it and still has pain. He advised my husband to save his money and bear it out. This doesn't satisfy me in view of the achievements of modern medicine. Can't something be done?

MRS. E. B.

Dr. Molner

I wouldn't settle for that give-up advice without having a more careful analysis. Pinched nerves are just what they feel like: A pain in the neck. They shouldn't be tolerated if there is a way to get rid of them.

Sometimes there is; sometimes there isn't. This sort of distress comes from different causes. Thickening of vertebrae in the neck (osteoarthritis) puts pressure on a nerve. A disc disorder ("slipped" or "ruptured" disc between the vertebrae) does the same thing. Some anomaly of bone development, such as a "cervical" or extra rib causes it. This can be corrected by surgery. An operation can also remove the pressure caused by a disc fault, by fusing together two vertebrae.

Such correction must be decided upon only after careful study of X-rays, to determine in advance whether it can be expected to succeed. If your husband hasn't consulted an orthopedist (bone specialist), he should.

However, there are several less drastic methods which help if the patient understands what to do and why he is doing it.

Since the trouble is pressure on a nerve, usually at the point at which it emerges from the spine, anything which removes the pressure relieves the pain.

Correct posture, which sounds so simple, is all that is needed for some victims. While awake, don't slouch. While asleep, use of a higher or lower pillow sometimes does the trick. Learning to stretch out full length when going to bed (to draw the spine out so no "kinks" or bends exert unwanted pressure between the bones) can be helpful.

Finally a simple neck-traction device, for the same purpose—to draw the vertebrae apart and relax the neck muscles — can be used at home after instruction by a doctor.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 10, is anxious to gain weight. He is the typical "string bean" type and full of nervous energy — eats three decent meals a day plus an eggnog each night. Have you any suggestions?

MRS. E

Yes: Wait. These string beans grow that way. They have spurts of growing up and then spurts of growing out, and they usually have periods (whether they do or don't tell us) of wanting to grow faster than they are growing in one direction or another. If he just can't wait, give him some more between-meal feedings of high-calorie foods (malted milk, sandwiches, and such) which may add a little weight, and make him think he's "doing something" about it. Be careful that these are not timed so as to interfere with his appetite at regular meals. That's about all you can do. Nature, you and I know, will solve things, anyway.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any danger from radiation while watching a 23-inch TV from a distance of eight feet or so, for 10 or 12 hours daily? I'm 58 and wear glasses.

—MRS. M. R.

No danger, but don't you get tired of it?

Dear Dr. Molner: My grandchild has a large lump on the upper part of her chest which developed when she was about five months old. She is now a year old. It is a hemangioma, and a pediatrician advised leaving it alone at the present. It does not seem to be getting any bigger.

—MRS. C. D.

Hemangiomas are defects in the capillaries of the skin —the extremely small blood vessels which fan out through the tissues.

They are not especially unusual and sometimes they disappear as a child grows older.

Since this one is not in too obvious a place and has not changed in size, you can, as your pediatrician suggested, wait and see for a time. (Hemangiomas on the face, and hence disfiguring, might be removed more promptly.)

If this one on the chest increases in size and is irritated so it bleeds, then consider removal.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: About three years ago I had surgery on the right breast. Since then I occasionally have infection of the right arm with severe pain, swelling and redness. My right arm is now larger than the left. What causes this infection and what can I do to prevent it? Will my arm continue getting larger?

—MRS. L. H.

Such cases aren't necessarily a matter of infection. The increased size of the arm is due to disturbance in circulation in the arm pit, blood vessels having been unavoidably affected by the surgery, or by subsequent scar tissue.

Exercise is important in preventing enlargement of the arm. Keep the arm active. Physiotherapy can reduce swelling. In some cases an elastic sleeve should be worn to facilitate circulation.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Here Come The Women!

Women are not much for buying machines for the basement workshop, for producing lots of sawdust, nor for cluttering up the place with severed fingers. That's a man's field.

But still and all, housewives are beginning to forge out in front in home improvement. This was indicated by a study of the lives and customs of 20,000 families residing in 50 states. The study showed that men still have a rather well defended position in carpentry, plumbing, electrical work and furniture repair. But they have given lots of ground elsewhere.

Women have taken the lead in wood finishing, painting, wall papering and plastering. They can also cobble up little motors, electric irons and such with far less fire and smoke.

Women are also credited with supplying 74 per cent of the home improvement ideas, though it was not discovered whether this was due to good taste or just determination. Neither men nor women are as yet very good at fixing television, although it is more probable that a new one will be purchased after the husband has a look at its faltering predecessor. A part of this is due to a man's propensity to get to the bottom of things. If the electric iron fails, he does not examine such a simple thing as the cord. He takes the iron apart first. That's why the gross national product grows bigger each year.

Men may be losing some household honors, but most of them are not concerned. While women are spending the weekend cleaning the drain pipes or replastering the kitchen, the men are setting new records, catching fish and improving their golf and bowling scores. There are always new fields.

Investigation Draws Backing

A group of 80 livestock men, including representatives of three farm organizations and the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, have backed the proposed state investigation into the retail price of beef. The fate of the measure is in the hands of the Legislature where a resolution is pending. Settlement of the question is expected this week.

The immediate intent of any such investigation would be to try to explain the relatively steady price of meat at retail in the face of declining prices of cattle on the hoof. It would be wrong to conclude, however, that the issue was merely one of curiosity. The issue has endless meaning for the state of Nebraska.

What might be done to bring retail prices in line with cattle prices or to give livestock men a better end of the bargain is highly uncertain at this time. Yet, it is not outside the realm of possibility that something along this line could be done, even if it were nothing more than a program of public education.

But a good investigation might also give the state an insight into the future of the livestock industry. It is an industry that has represented independent strength in agriculture and perhaps it will continue to do so. On the other hand, it could be nearing the day when it would face the kind of supply and demand situation that has plagued the feed grains farmer and destroyed many of them.

It would seem that Nebraska would be wise in making an effort to define the future of the livestock industry since it is such a vital part of our economy. An investigation could be helpful here, even if it failed to serve any other purpose.

Problem Of Specialization

It should be somewhat of a relief to Americans to learn that a substantial number of influential Russians are concerned that the United States will take the lead in the training of young people in the field of mathematics. Leading Soviet scientists have so stated their opinion and called for the establishment of new specialized mathematics schools.

This is rather a drastic change from so many of the opinions to the contrary that we have heard in the past five years. And the Soviet scientists are running smack into the same kind of local opposition that such an idea would garner here in this nation.

Allied against the scientists are educational authorities who maintain that all Soviet youngsters must receive a standard minimal education. It is the same old argument of the specialist against those who uphold the concept of liberal arts.

This, of course, is a substantial argument in itself but it is by no means the only thought at issue in the matter. Any nation would do well to consider carefully before it attempts to unduly influence its young people in their choice of a career. This nation, particularly, has prospered with the private initiative it has fostered throughout its history.

We may use the Madison Avenue approach to get youngsters into medicine, space research or what-have-you but once our interference in this area of choice becomes dominant, we have assumed a dangerous responsibility we would never be permitted to relinquish. The ultimate end could be career planning on a wholesale basis and the deadening of much of the sensitivity that has marked our progress to date.

A Halfway-To-Spring Meal-Planning Slump

NEW YORK — Like most American housewives, I annually go through a cooking slump. The cooking slump generally comes about now, midway between winter and spring, between the chicken-in-the-pot days and the lobster-salad days.

During this unpalatable period, when nothing titillates the taste-buds, it becomes an enormous chore to imagine what might be good for dinner, beef, veal, fish, lamb, fowl, liver—all are equally ugh. Even the thought of roast goose, which literally gurgled my stomach in December, is a drag.

Of course, it's my fault, I always think; I am weary from a winter of hot stoves and cold freezer packages; I am on the verge of the easy cold-cuts and barbecued (by husband) steak days, and it has made me restless.

Another opinion, however, was offered me a while ago by Mrs. Hilda Howard, who presided over the kitchen of the world-famed "Rainbow Room," 65 floors above Rockefeller Plaza. Mrs. Howard who'd served meals to four U.S. presidents, many of the great diplomats and movie stars and planned a daily menu for 1,000 men, was inclined to blame kitchen ennui on the male sex. . .

"Years ago, men were imaginative in their love of food, and it was fun to cook then," she said. "But today they're calorie conscious and they want everything boiled and broiled. For dessert, the six-to-one favorite is stewed fruit."

Mrs. Howard gave us a few rules for housewives who must plan daily meals for men:

1. Don't be fancy.

2. Unless your husband is the unusual man —a gourmet—stick to lamb and beef stews, chicken pie, chopped steak, unchopped steak, roast beef or roast beef hash.

3. Don't repeat the same dish within four weeks.

4. Make salads interesting. Try aspics and unusual dressings, because men like salads better than you think.

5. Watch the calories.

☆ ☆ ☆

Somehow remembering all this advice still doesn't rouse me from the cooking slump. Perhaps it's because I was aware that Mrs. Howard had 57 chefs under her direction —which tended to remove her from the realm of empathy with my problem.

Mrs. Howard may THINK she understands the problem of the tired housewife like me.

But if I had 57 chefs under me, ready to make suggestions when I said gee-what'll-we-have-for-dinner?, I don't think I'd understand me at all. I have a tough enough time understanding me, being me. But that's beside the point.

The point is, it's time to fix dinner again. What'll it be?

Ho hum.

University Costs

Waverly, Neb.

The suggestion about no cars at the university is fine. Why should I pay taxes to give these folks an education? They are more financially able than I am. Let them spend their money for their education instead of cars.

I'll bet somebody is working hard to keep them in cars. Money could be better spent. The university takes too much tax money, as it is.

Placing Our Trust

Lincoln, Neb.

There has been quite a furor in recent days and it is still going on regarding what many of the writers call "manipulation" of the news. Little Mr. John Q. Public is hollering his head off about his "right to know."

Perhaps we should take a longer look at our own intelligence and ability to receive in full everything as it happens in government circles today. Our mere inane squawking that we want to know everything, and right now, would indicate that we are neither ready nor able to absorb it.

There is a time and there is a place for everything. We will all surely agree that these are tension-filled days, when a wrong move, a wrong word, information or misinformation in the wrong hands could plunge us all into the long night. There is a wide gap between being spoon-fed a watered-down version of ordinary news developments and putting into general circulation vital information that could mean life or death for us all.

Perhaps a little more faith in those we have put in high places would be in order at this time.

Telephone Usage

Lincoln, Neb.

Ohio's relatively new law governing fraudulent use of telephone service was the basis for recent criminal proceedings in Marion County Common Pleas Court. Charles F. Parshall, 55, was found guilty on all 16 counts of an indictment charging him with fraudulently charging long distance telephone calls to fictitious credit cards. Judge Paul D. Smith fined Parshall $1,000 plus costs of the suit and sentenced him to six months in the Marion County jail. However, the jail sentence was suspended and he was put on five years probation. Charges were filed by the state of Ohio under a section of the Ohio Revised Code enacted into law in 1961. The General Telephone Company of Ohio and various Bell comapnies provided evidence.

The Nebraska Legislature on April 1, 1959, passed a similar law making it a misdemeanor to obtain long distance telephone service through fraudulent means. It provides a penalty of not more than $500, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or both.

Powell's Influence

Lincoln, Neb.

When Adam Clayton Powell declares himself for the Black Muslims, he goes a long way toward making himself Public Enemy No. 1. When Powell declares himself in favor of expelling all white people from the NAACP, he is declaring that harmony and cooperation, even between men of good will in both races, are impossible.

If this policy of Congressman Powell should be continued, it would mean nothing less than civil war between the two races. Powell is playing with fire and we shall soon see it blazing up all over the country unless this fanatic is put in his place.

To date the Negro has used intelligence and tact in pushing for his rights as an American citizen, but a continuation of the recent speeches of Adam Clayton Powell will embitter improving race relations and lose the Negro much of what he has gained in the last 50 years.

The leaders of the Negro race should see to it that this man does not increase his influence or gain the leadership of the Negro peopeople.

A Suggestion

Denton, Neb.

On a trip last summer, we came upon something I thought would be good for the state's centennial and for a permanent project.

Just before we entered Rainier Park from the south, there was an Indian village, model but full size. There was also a stagecoach ride. As we went through the trees up and down a trail, stuffed bears, Indians, rattlesnakes, etc. jumped out at us. The village tour and the ride each cost 25 cents.

Our own Indians should be guides through the village while a cowboy drives the stage. This is representative of Nebraska, surely.

Blank Notebook Helpful When Planning Retirement

By ROBERT PETERSON

The first step in retirement planning is to buy a blank notebook, according to Sidney Scott Ross author of a reference book called "How to Enjoy Your Later Years."

"Label the notebook 'Retirement Ideas,'" he says, "and then divide it into sections—finance, hobbies, new projects and retirement locations. Have an envelope in each section to enclose provocative articles and clippings on the subject of retirement. Jot down your wife's ideas, too. With such a book you can plan intelligently, and then follow through on your plans when you quit working."

Among many excellent tips in his book is a formula on how to read 20 books a year. Ross claims that if you simply read 15 minutes a day, you'll be able to go through 20 books a year—thus enriching your mind and stimulating your fund of conversation.

Despite the claims of dietitians that everyone needs three well-balanced meals a day, I've observed that most healthy elders simply observe food habits which they've found agree with them.

When I talked last fall with the late Robert Frost, I learned that for breakfast this venerable poet had nothing but a tall drink consisting of equal parts of coffee, milk and water, plus two teaspoons of white sugar. He said he had no luncheon at all, and that his main meal was in the evening, "Just an ordinary supper with some meat, vegetables and dessert like everyone eats.

His casual attitude toward food reminded me of a column I wrote two years ago about veteran dancer Pat Rooney. At a banquet I heard Rooney ask the waiter to take away the roast chicken dinner which was being served and bring him a hamburger. When I asked what was wrong with the chicken, he said that nothing agreed with him as well as hamburgers and that his diet for years had consisted almost entirely of hamburgers and coffee—a fact which I later confirmed by checking with his wife.

A dietitian who read my column about Rooney wrote saying such an unbalanced diet would kill a man. Well, maybe it did for Pat passed on last summer. And Mr. Frost passed on a few months ago. But they lived to be 84 and 88, respectively, and were vigorous to the end—a record few of us, including dietitians, are likely to better.

I'm a romanticist who equates long marriages with sweet domestic tranquility. I was thus jolted to receive a letter this morning from a woman who writes, "We've been married 50 years, and the longer we live together the more he gets on my nerves. I've never liked the smell of cigars, but he smokes 6 of the dreadful things a day and keeps the house in a blue haze.

"What's more," she continues, "he snores so loud at night I can't get a decent rest. Even sleeping in the guest room down the hall does no good for he shakes the whole house."

You've got a problem there, lady. But since you've been putting up with this male for half a century why not just relax and find pleasure in the fact that this smoking, snoring creature still qualifies as a husband, and a lot of widows would be glad to have him.

Packaging Costs High

Kingston, R.I. (UPI)—If the supermarket checker rings up $20 for your week's groceries, it's a safe guess that $1.50 to $2 of the total is for packages. Jim Bromley, consumer education specialist for the University of Rhode Island, says that on low-priced items, the cost of the package often is high in relation to the cost of the product. On a tube of toothpaste, for instance, the package cost may be 60 to 70% of the post of the product.

Lincoln Youth Jailed In Iowa After Chase

John C. Beaman, 17, of 328 C, was jailed in Corydon, Iowa, after he led lawmen on a high-speed chase in southern Iowa early Wednesday.

Beaman was sentenced to 30 days in the Wayne County jail on a reckless driving charge.

Wayne County Sheriff Lorie Hart said he doubted that any other charges would be brought against Beaman in Iowa, and that Nebraska authorities were sending a warrant to hold the youth.

Only a bruised knee and a possibly sprained ankle resulted when the car Beaman was driving rolled over 5 or 6 times about 3 miles east of Pulaski.

Car Demolished

The 1963-model car, reported stolen Wednesday morning from the vicinity of 15th and E in Lincoln, was completely demolished. It belonged to Miss Carolyn Van Gert of 714 So. 17th, formerly of Harbine.

The Iowa Highway Patrol began their chase when the youth stopped at Mt. Ayr for gas and drove off without paying for it.

Iowa Patrolman Howard Hayes said he drove at speeds up to 120 miles per hour but couldn't catch Beaman. Hayes radioed ahead and state and local law officers set up roadblocks at Corydon, Centerville, and Bloomfield, but the speeding car eluded officers, tearing through the towns at about 80 m.p.h.

Iowa Patrolman Richard Smith said Beaman lost control of the car on Iowa 2. Smith said he saw the vehicle flip over several times, then crash on the pavement.

Lancaster County authorities planned to obtain a warrant for Beaman's arrest on suspicion of auto theft and pick him up at Corydon, but no warrant was issued Wednesday, according to County Judge Ralph Slocum.

Iowa authorities said Beaman told them he had planned to visit an uncle in Wyoming, Ill.

County Wheel Tax Law Held

. . . UNDERGROUND GAS STORAGE BILL HEARD

A bill under which counties would be authorized to levy county wheel taxes at their option was heard and held for later action Wednesday by the Legislature's Public Works Committee.

Also heard and held was a bill sought by the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. involving condemnation powers to acquire underground storage reservoirs for natural gas.

The county wheel tax bill, LB636, was principally introduced by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, who explained it would allow a county board to order a county vehicle registration fee of up to $5.

'More Equitable'

He said it is more equitable if these funds, to help finance road construction, come from highway users rather than the property tax.

Fees paid by motorists who reside in incorporated cities and villages would be returned to those municipalities, with the county getting the fees from outside the municipalities.

Supporting testimony came from Edward Carter Jr., representing the Nebraska County Officials Association, and Joe R. Seacrest, speaking for the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Opposing the bill were attorny James Ryan for the Nebraska New Car Dealers Association, Jack Romans of Ord and Paul Halpine, representing the Nebraska Motor Carriers Association.

Ryan said new car dealers see no need for the bill if LB469, a bill providing for a new $5 paving use fee, is enacted. Dealers are concerned because higher taxes and higher costs of operating cars make new cars harder to sell, he argued.

The underground gas storage bill, LB335, was introduced principally by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings.

Kansas-Nebraska President Thomas J Creigh of Hastings said the firm eyes the Big Springs field in Deuel County as a gas reservoir.

Had it been available last winter, he said, January gas shortages could have been averted in many Nebraska communities.

The bill drew the opposition of the Nebraska Oil and Gas Association, representatives of individual oil companies, Mayor Dean Wilson of Sidney and indivudual owners or their representatives in the Big Springs field.

Opponents objected to the condemnation provisions.

Cities Civil Defense Bill Endorsed

A bill requiring establishment of a local Civil Defense organization in all cities, and in villages which desire it, was unanimously endorsed Wednesday by the Legislature's Government Committee and advanced to general file.

LB731, introduced by Sen. William Brandt of Unadilla, would make Civil Defense organizations mandatory in all cities and counties, and would allow villages desiring such an organization to establish chapters.

Heretofore villages have been excluded from Civil Defense direction.

In other action, the committee advanced LB730, also introduced by Brandt, which revises provisions for enlistment in the National Guard.

There was no opposition to either bill.

Killed 5-1 by the committee was LB557, introduced by Sen. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo, extending the period for which district paving bonds may be issued for second-class cities and villages.

The fate of the controversial "bottle club bill," LB21, heard over a month ago, is still pending committee action.

As drawn and introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and Sen. Marvin Stromer of Lincoln, the measure provides for the licensing and control of both non-profit corporations where liquor is consumed, and private bottle clubs.

Carpenter, however, has offered a series of restrictive amendments which will deny such licenses to those organizations which could not qualify as non-profit by producing proof of federal tax-exempt status.

According to Carpenter, Nebraska has 112 bottle clubs functioning outside the law.

Presidential Vote Idea Heard

. . . FOR LESS THAN 6 MONTHS IN STATE

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Judiciary Committee Wednesday heard alternate proposals on ways to allow Nebraskans with less than 6 months' residence to vote for president and vice president.

At issue was LB313, introduced by Sens. Marvin E. Stromer and Fern Hubbard Orme, both of Lincoln, and Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud, which proposed a constitutional amendment to allow new residents of the state to vote for the two top national officers.

Stromer offered a substitute bill, however, which would permit such voting through the legislative route rather than amending the constitution.

Law Amendment

The Lincoln senator told the committee that Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer had advised him that a special committee of the National Commissioners on Uniform Acts has concluded that states can amend their election laws to effect the change.

This method, Stromer said, would avoid the $10,000 cost involved in constitutional amendments, and also would prevent additional legislation through the constitution.

Stromer said the law should be enacted because numerous persons who have to move around because of their jobs are being disenfranchised by state residency laws.

Roland Luedtke, elections counselor for the secretary of state, appeared in support of the principle of the bill, but reserved judgment on the method pending further study.

Similar In Draft

He said the secretary of state's office had a similar bill drafted (but not introduced) calling for a constitutional amendment for this purpose.

The committee also held LB427, introduced by Sens. Dale Payne of Papillion, Clifton Foster of Bradshaw and Orme, designed to make it possible for school board members to be nominated through a primary election, as well as by convention and caucus.

The measure was held to study amendments offered by the secretary of state's office.

A third measure heard Wednesday, LB417, introduced by Sen. Fred Gottschalk of Columbus, was advanced to the floor. It would permit a facsimile of the governor's signature to be affixed to a notary public commission in lieu of his actual signature.

Gottschalk said this would free the governor from a time-consuming job and expedite the issuance of notary commissions.

Kjar Will Recommend Trade School In Curtis

Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington said he will recommend that the Agriculture School campus at Curtis be the site for a new trade school.

Kjar

Kjar said he has waited for the trade school issue to crystalize so he could suggest the Curtis facility.

Floor debate will come this week on LB181, amended by the Education Committee to say that within the next two years the state shall create a second trade school.

The original bill, introduced by Sens. George Gerdes of Alliance and Dale Erlewine of Grant, called for a trade school to be established west of a north-south line running through North Platte.

Logical Location

"Curtis is the logical place," Kjar said. "It has a $1 million campus which includes 612 acres of land and plenty of buildings."

He said an interim study on the future of the agriculture school determined that the auspices of the University of Nebraska, should be given until 1966 to "phase out."

Kjar said the school is not significant in its agricultural education as it was when it was started in 1913, partially due to the expansion of the NU College of Agriculture.

"There's plenty there for vocational education, and for a time, agricultural education could be continued there with it, until the agricultural phase dies out."

Landscape Lighting Enchants Nighttime

Landmarks and beauty spots should be seen by night as well as by day, John Watson of Dallas, Tex., said Wednesday in Lincoln.

The 40-year-old Texan is a nationally known landscape illuminator, or, as he describes himself, a "landscape painter with lights."

Watson was in the city to discuss night lighting of the Children's Zoo with officials and spoke at a luncheon attended by some 150 professional, business and civic leaders.

'No Exposed Lights'

"Beautiful architecture and landscapes should be also seen at night," he said, but lashed critically at floodlights and unconcealed lighting fixtures.

In parks and landscape scenes, Watson favors subtle, concealed lighting producing a "moonlight effect" and use of colored lights only for advisable accents.

Watson, who illuminated Queen Victoria Park in Niagara Falls, Ont., said night attendance at the park at one cent per person was equivalent in the first year to the installation's quarter-million dollar cost.

With the trend toward more leisure time, he said, public areas will become more and more in demand, and this includes nighttime.

"Why should parks be left dormant at night?" asked Watson.

He told the group that if a city can attract 25 additional tourists or visitors per day it would equal a $100,000-payroll industry.

"One of the best opportunities to stop or attract a tourist is at night."

It Pays Off

He suggested illumination of landmarks and beauty spots can pay off in dollars and cents for a city as well as in enjoyment for its citizens.

During the day, Watson toured the Children's Zoo with Arnott Folsom, zoo association president, and Larry Enersen, architect.

He described the facility, still under constriction, as "terrific" and having a "great potential for evening use."

Watson was scheduled to view other Lincoln facilities —including Bennett Martin Public Library—before leaving the city.

Air Guard Has 'Try-1 Enlistment Program'

The Nebraska Air National Guard has announced a new program for prior service airmen.

It is called the "Try-One Enlistment Program."

According to the announcement, veterans are being sought to fill unit manning-document positions in the 155th Fighter Group of the State Air Guard in Lincoln.

The program is a one-year enlistment.

"If you meet qualifications, you may be enlisted at the grade you presently hold in the Air Force Reserve," the announcement said.

It also said, "If you are not assigned to an active Air Force Reserve Unit or wish to increase your income, retirement and participation, the Air Guard welcomes discussion of the program.

"The opportunities for advancement in most grades are excellent, and the 48 paid unit training assemblies and 15 days summer field training each year provide substantial additional income.

"Unit training assemblies are held one weekend each month. Summer field training is usually held in August."

Retirement Benefits

Among the retirement benefits offered under the program are these:

—5 years active and 15 years active-reserve upon retirement in the grade of chief master sergeant would give a retirement pay of $89.58 at age 60.

—5 years active and 25 years active-reserve upon retirement as a chief master sergeant would give retirement pay of $112.87 at age 60.

Also, applicants with prior service in any of the other armed forces who have not reached their 36th birthday may be enlisted without regard to the length of such prior service providing the applicant is otherwise qualified.

Lt. Col. Albert Nolan said all inquiries should be directed to the Air National Guard Base, Lincoln.

$136,000 Bid Low On A St. Feeder Main

Chambers Construction Co. was apparently low at $135,995 for construction of a 30-inch water feeder main in A from 50th to 63rd in sealed bidding Wednesday at City Hall.

City engineers said Chambers' low bid was on ductile iron pipe, specified as an alternate to either cast iron or reinforced concrete.

Ductile iron is cast with a special alloy, and such an installation would be the first in Lincoln though Grand Island and other communities have used this pipe material, the engineers said.

'Less Brittle'

"It is stronger, less brittle than gray-iron pipe."

Chambers' low bid compared with Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $138,625; H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co., $140,321 and N. L. Cole Construction Co., $140,620.

Alternate bids on reinforced concrete pipe were Dobson, $136,810; Chambers, $138,671; Cole, $140,400; Bookstrom, $141,500; and William Anderson Inc., $145,318. No alternate bids were received on reinforced concrete.

An engineering recommendation on the bids is expected to be made Monday to the City Council.

Dobson was apparent low bidder on 3 paving projects:

—Paving District 1801 for Knox from 47th to 48th, Dobson $4,858.50 compared with Pioneer Paving Co., $4,881.50.

—Paving District 1824 for Cotner from Normal to South, Newton from Cotner to Normal Acres First Addition and all of Newton Circle, Dobson, $26,218.20 compared with Pioneer, $26,518.34.

—Paving District 1826 for LaSalle from 50th to 54th, 50th and 52nd from Spruce to LaSalle and 54th from LaSalle to 142 feet south, Dobson, $32,035.70 compared with Pioneer, $33,126.60.

Motor Fuel Tax Paid On 47 Million Gallons

Taxes were paid on 46,719,264 gallons of motor fuel imported into Nebraska during January, the State Department of Roads reported Wednesday.

The gallonage taxed was 20% more than January 1962.

The total includes special fuels for buses and trucks but not fuel used for aviation or agriculture.

Transport Tied Up By Frenchmen

Paris (UPI)—French railway men and bus depot workers tied up transportation Wednesday with a series of rush hour harassing stoppages called to back 200,000 striking coal miners.

But President Charles de Gaulle refused Wednesday night to budge a franc beyond the government's wage offers rejected Sunday by the striking coal miners.

The decision threatened to prolong the 27-day strike, already a major crisis that threatens to spread to other nationalized industries.

Told on TV

The decision was announced by Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte at a televised news conference which followed a cabinet meeting devoted to the mounting crisis of state-employed workers.

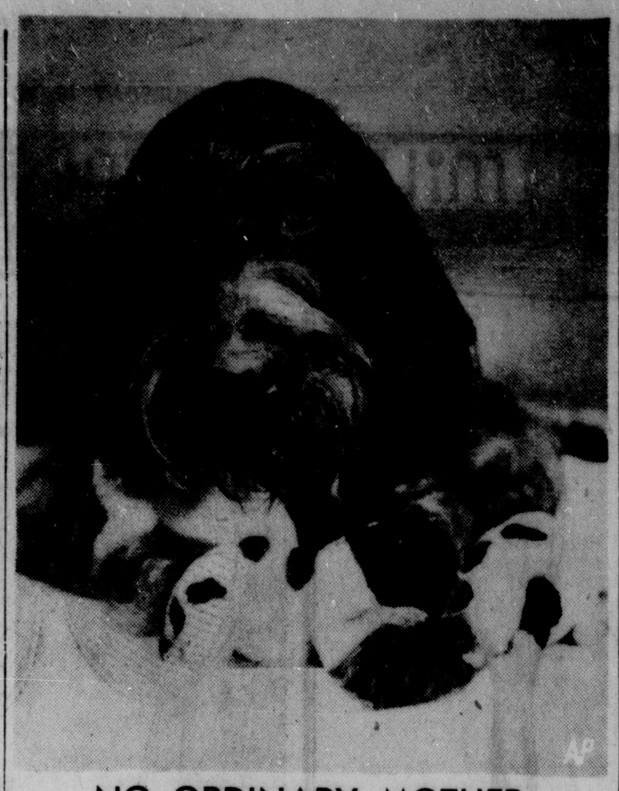

The information minister also said the government does not plan to ration coal and gas for the time being although many factories are on short time because of the strike.

The coal miners have demanded an 11% wage increase to meet the higher cost of living. The government offered 8% with 5% effective April 1 and the rest in October. The miners called the offer "insulting."

Drastic Picture

Explaining the government's stand, Peyrefitte painted a drastic picture of the mounting deficit in state-operated enterprises.

He said state enterprises as a whole were operating at an accumulated loss of $391.2 million as of Jan. 1. The situation is expected to worsen because gas and electricity workers are threatening "flash strikes."

NO ORDINARY MOTHER

Meet Maisie who is different than any other mother in history. Sixteen months ago Dr. Edward J. Hurley, heart surgeon at the Stanford School of Medicine, removed Maisie's heart. It was without circulation for 77 minutes while a heart-lung machine took its place. Then the heart was switched back into place. Maisie delivered her family of 7 pups several months after her operation without ill effects.

Eidmann Retiring; 21 Years' Service

Otto J. Eidmann, district engineer in the Nebraska division office of the Bureau of Public Roads, will retire Sunday after 21 years of federal service.

Eidmann joined the bureau in September 1946 as bridge engineer for the Nebraska division. He subsequently became construction, maintenance and design engineer before being named district engineer in that division.

He volunteered for service in the Army Corps of Engineers in 1942 and rose to lieutenant colonel. Sent overseas, he won the Bronze Star for his services in connection with the Allied invasion of Europe during World War II.

Reds Claim Intrusion

Tokyo (AP) — Communist China said a U.S. military plane "intruded" into its air space over Yunghsing, Pei and Tung islands in Kwangtung Province of South China. Peking Radio said the Foreign Ministry issued "the 236th serious warning" against American flights over Red China.

Rockefeller Expects To Be At Dinner Honoring Hruska

Albany, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller acknowledged Wednesday that he had informed groups in Kansas and Nebraska that he definitely intended to keep his speaking dates there on April 5 and 6, respectively.

The governor would not say, however, whether he would leave New York state even if the legislature were still in session.

When questioned at his news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller held up a hand, crossed his first two fingers and grinned.

Pressed to say whether he would go regardless of whether the legislature were still in session, he replied, "that is something hard to say."

"I have to wait and see what developments are," Rockefeller said. But he added: "I expect to be there."

Republican legislative leaders originally set April 6 as the target date for adjournment of the 1963 session. To accommodate Rockefeller, however, they are now shooting for an April 4 closing.

Rockefeller is scheduled to speak at an Omaha dinner honoring Sen. Roman Hruska April 6.

Freedom Volunteers Sponsor Roberts Talk

Arch E. Roberts, an Army reserve major relieved from active duty in 1962 because of "improper statements" in a speech, will speak Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Youth Center, 15th and O, at a meeting sponsored by Freedom Volunteers.

Roberts was the author of "Pro-Blue," an orientation program used by ex-Maj. Edwin A. Walker before he was admonished officially for engaging in rightwing political orientation of his troops. Gen. Walker subsequently resigned from the Army.

Soviets Reject U.S. Claims

. . . DENY PENETRATING AMERICAN AIR SPACE

Washington (AP)—The Soviet Union firmly rejected Wednesday U.S. claims that two Russian reconnaissance planes penetrated 30 miles into American air space March 15.

Authoritative sources in reporting this Wednesday said the Soviets said that their planes had never come closer to Alaska than 350 kilometers (217 miles).

The U.S. note of protest was delivered to the Soviets March 16 by Foy D. Kohler, U.S. Ambassador to Moscow.

Vasily Kuznetsov, Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister, received the document.

The U.S. note said that the two Russian aircraft violated U.S. air space over Alaska March 15 and the United States "expects that the Soveit government will take all necessary measures to prevent any repetition."

The Sovier reply Wednesday, the sources said, emphatically rejected the protest.

U.S. officials said the Soviet overflights took place in the area of Kuskokwim Bay and Etolin Strait, north of the Alaska peninsula.

A State Department spokesman said March 17 that this was the first "clearly established incident" of a Soviet overflight over the United States.

U.S. Insists

High ranking U.S. authorities, commenting on the Soviet reply, said the United States insists that the Soviet planes violated American air space, as spelled out in the U.S. note of March 16.

Whether the United States will answer the Soviet note was not immediately determined. The Soviet reply reached the State Department late Wednesday afternoon and is currently under study.

The text was not released. Officials said it is up to Moscow to do that.

Earlier the Defense Department denied a report it had changed its opinion of Soviet flights over Alaska and now considers the incident an accident.

Stand Pat

The Pentagon, like the State Department, stood on the March 16 note that two Soviet planes flew over the southwestern corner of Alaska.

The Pentagon statement came after published reports that Naval Reserve aviators have recently been given a revised account of the Alaska overflights. This version was supposed to indicate the Soviet planes probably were lost in bad weather.

Asked whether the Alaska Air Command now considers the Russian flights an accident, the Defense Department said "the flight has not been officially characterized in this sense."

12 Minutes

The published reports said only one Russian plane flew over Alaskan land and was there only 12 minutes, not 25 minutes as the government had claimed.

To this, the Defense Department said the protest note to Russia, based on official information, said two planes were involved, and "the notes of protest stated the correct time periods involved."

The Defense Department added that its information "is that the maximum penetration was about 30 miles."

The Pentagon said there was a radar intercept of the planes, but no physical or visual contact by American fighters which scrambled and went after the Russians.

Barnett Reviving Southern Dream

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett has a new twist that he hopes will breathe new life into an old conservative southern Democrat dream.

In the dream, a group of unpledged presidential electors force the Electoral College either to accept a conservative as president or throw the election into the House of Representatives.

The governor said his new plan, which he is pushing in other southern states, is for "Democrats who have had enough of the Kennedy boys."

The new plan differs from the old in that it provides a way to have the Democratic Party completely blocked off the ballot in as many states as would follow Mississippi's lead.

This could be done under presidential elector laws similar to the one Barnett rammed through a special session of the legislature 3 weeks ago.

It calls for the state Democratic convention to nominate a slate of "loyalist" presidential electors and one of unpledged electors.

Then, in the party primary, the slate drawing the highest vote would be the only one allowed on the general election ballot under the Democratic labe.

The "loyalist" slate could get on the ballot by petition but could not use the Democrat label in any form. The label often decides elections in the South.

In a recent television talk, Barnett confirmed that he and other backers of his "one chance in a million" electoral plan had met with political figures in 6 other states.

He declined to name either the states or the people.

Barnett plumped for roughly the same strategy in the last presidential election, when Mississippi named a slate of unpledged electors who definitely cast their Electoral College vote for Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va.

The strategy got its biggest test in 1948 when President Harry Truman won his famous upset victory despite the fact that 4 southern states named unpledged electors in a states rights drive.

Stage Work Stoppage

Sydney, Australia (UPI) — Three thousand warfside workers staged a 24-hour work stoppage to enforce demands for a wage boost, 4 weeks vacation and a pension plan.

COMMIES SCORE AGAIN IN VIET NAM

Saigon, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Communist guerrillas Wednesday staged their 3rd successful raid this week against a government outpost, striking before dawn to wipe out the 19-man garrison at Cai Gia, 75 miles south of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman said the 19 men apparently were taken prisoner by the Communists, who then blew up the fort and slipped back into the mangrove swamps where they have their hideouts.

The raiders captured 22 weapons and a radio. In Wednesday's attack and the two earlier this week, they have seized enough arms to equip a company of troops.

The raids overshadowed government victories in other areas. Eight guerrillas were killed near the town of Camau Wednesday, with government losses one dead. Artillery and air strikes near the Cambodian border Tuesday killed 15 Communists, a U.S. spokesman said.

Britain's Teachers Protest Pay Scales

London (AP) — Thousands of angry school-teachers streamed to Parliament with military precision Wednesday and protested new pay scales set by Education Minister Edward Boyle.

It was the second straight day of protest at historic Westminster against the Conservative government's economic policies. About 3,000 unemployed workers from England, Scotland, and northern Ireland clashed with police Tuesday.

An extra force of police was on duty before the Parliament building as about 5,000 teachers assembled, but stewards of the National Union of Teachers maintained order.

T. T. S. Cresswell, first in line at St. Stephen's entrance to the House of Commons, accused Boyle of using dictatorial methods.

Boyle called a news conference to justify his pay scales, which the teachers claimed had been worked out without sufficient advance consultation.

"I am not acting illegally," Boyle insisted. "under the law I am required to be the last to move."

The teachers union was not placated. It set up headquarters at Church House, just behind Westminster Abbey, and sent teachers across Parliament Square at regular intervals.

Typhoid Epidemic Claims 3rd Life

Zermatt, Switzerland (UPI) —The typhoid epidemic in this village Wednesday caused its 3rd death, a British tourist. New outbreaks of the disease were reported as far away as Scotland and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Swiss army medical corpsmen patrolled the streets of this alpine resort village, which seemed like a ghost town since most of its thousands of tourists left. Zermatt estimates it will lose $5 million from the tourist exodus. The discovery of two typhoid cases in another fashionable resort, St. Moritz, raised fears of losses there.

But there have been no cases reported in Davos, where Britain's Princess Margaret is spending a ski vacation.

Pipe Is Cause

Informed sources said the army teams hunting for the source of the epidemic virtually are certain that a broken sewer pipe was its cause. The pipe was discovered in the village's main street.

The pipe affects only water supplies in the lower part of the village, where most of the cases developed. Col. Ernst Wiessman, chief of the Army Bacteriological Service, has spent two days testing samplings from the pipe.

Frederick Smith, a 25-year employe of the British Navy who vacationed in Zermatt a month ago, died Wednesday in a British hospital. The two previous fatalities had been Zermatt housewives. However, many foreign visitors were among the nearly 400 typhoid cases linked to Zermatt.

Another Patient

In Pittsburgh, Dr. Edwin M. Brown, disease control officer for the Allegheny County Health Department, said a resident of the Netherlands is under treatment for typhoid believed to have been contracted during a visit to Switzerland last month. The man was not identified.

Pittsburgh authorities also checked two flights of skiers from the area who visited Switzerland last month. Zermatt was on their itinerary.

Britain reported a total of 48 cases, including a new one Wednesday in Edinburgh. Four new cases were discovered in Milan, Italy. All the victims were tourists who had visited Zermatt.

NU Medical Staffs Show United Front

Full-time and volunteer staff members of the University of Nebraska Medical College presented a united front Wednesday, fully endorsing a proposal to construct an additional 200-bed facility on the school's Omaha city campus.

The facility could be either a new hospital or an addition to the existing hospital.

Appearing before the Legislature's Budget Committee, Dr. John Schenken of Omaha, a member of the volunteer staff, said: "The need is urgent to expand the University Medical College Hospital in the interest of offering our medical students a progressive, well-rounded program."

Earlier Disagreement

The volunteer staff had been in disagreement with university officials earlier over building a new hospital off the Omaha campus.

A compromise agreement was reached last week when volunteer doctors met with the NU Board of Regents.

The estimated cost of the 200-bed hospital is $5.2 million.

Dr. John Davis of Omaha, a member of the volunteer staff, said it would include a recovery room, special care unit, and clinical research suite.

'Total Care'

Dr. Don Bucholz of Omaha, also on the volunteer staff, told the committee he feels the University medical school "has a responsibility" to concern itself "with total medical care of all Nebraska citizens."

He said the school must "lead the way" in producing family doctors and general practitioners.

"I believe we can lead the Midwest in turning out family doctors by constructing this 200-bed hospital," he said. "It will be used as both a research and teaching arm and will be invaluable."

Dr. O. A. Kostal of Hastings, president of the Nebraska State Medical Association, said the association "backs wholeheartedly the need for expansion. We do not believe a 200-bed hospital will solve all the medical school's problems, but will certainly lighten them."

During the hearing Medical Dean Perry Tollman and NU Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik detailed the school's operational budget request of $6,879,325 for the 1963-65 period, a 46.3% increase over the present biennium's appropriation.

Dr. Tollman denied the university is seeking to replace volunteer staff members by increasing its full-time teaching force.

"This is a gross rumor which has picked up steam," he said. "We are now too thinly staffed, and by adding more full-time physicians to the college we can augment and improve our programs."

More Volunteers

The Medical College expects "if anything, to use more volunteer staff members," Dr. Tollman said.

The budget calls for the college to employ an additional 22 physicians during the two-year period, increasing to 55 the total full-time staff.

Also, Dr. Tollman said, 4 additional teachers will be hired for the School of Nursing, part of the Medical College.

Committee Okays Ag College Name Change Measure

The Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee gave 5-0 assent Wednesday to changing the name of the University of Nebraska's College of Agriculture to "College of Agriculture and Home Economics."

Dean E. F. Frolik of the College of Agriculture termed "long overdue" the name change to reflect the home economics activities within the college.

The bill drew no opposition.

Also unopposed and sent to the floor on 5-0 votes were:

LB757—a corrective bill authorizing transfer of funds from cemetery districts organized under legislation later held unconstitutional to legally formed cemetery districts.

LB305—authorizing the deputy city treasurer as well as the city treasurer to serve as ex-officio treasurer of a third class school district.

2 WEST SOLONS ARGUE INCOME TAX

Gerdes Thompson

Two Western district senators Wednesday expressed opposite views on the proposed state income tax bill, LB612, indicating rural factions may be split over the measure.

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook, a 5-term lawmaker, said he cannot support the controversial bill in its present form "as it would only mean a shifting of more of the tax burden back to the tangible tax field."

But Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance said he feels the measure "will accord Nebraskans, especially property owners, tax relief which has been in dire need for years."

Bill 'Reasonable'

Gerdes said he personally favors a combination sales-income tax, but added: "I will vote for any reasonable bill to broaden our tax base—I believe the income tax bill is reasonable."

Thompson said the No. 1 problem Nebraska faces in the tax field is making equitable the over-all tax picture.

"A state income tax as proposed in LB612 would not shift the load equally with respect to other areas of taxation," he said.

Thompson said he does not feel "the bill can be amended to please me either."

'Most In Favor'

Gerdes said he has received "very little" correspondence opposing the bill. "It is my belief that the majority of the people residing in Western Nebraska are in favor of the bill," he said.

Taking exception to this statement, Thompson said: "I have received a flood of letters against the bill from Western Nebraskans. They simply do not want enacted a bill which would only fan the flames of tax injustice."

However, Thompson said he is not opposed to tax reform. "I think something should be done, but not in the direction LB612 would have us go."

Both Are Farmers

Both Thompson and Gerdes are farmers and members of the Budget Committee, and admitted more state spending will be necessary in the future.

"We will need more money and the property owner cannot continue to carry the rest of the state on his back," Gerdes said.

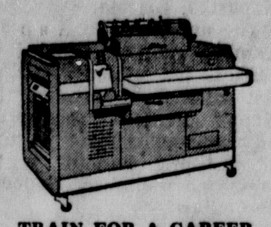

Thompson agreed more revenue would be needed "but certainly this income tax bill is not the answer. We need to take a fresh look at the problem with an eye towards balancing the over-all tax structure."

Not recorded were Sens. Michael Russillo of Omaha Dale Erlewine of Grant.

Also passed Wednesday and sent to the governor was a measure increasing from $70 to $75 the maximum monthly assistance payment to recipients of aid to the aged and disabled.

The vote on the assistance bill, LB234, was 37-5, with opposition votes cast by Sens. Bowen, Bridenbaugh, Erlewine, Gerhart and Thompson. Sen. Russillo was absent.

LB234 was introduced by Sens. Sam Klaver and Eugene Mahoney of Omaha.

The bills were among 6 passed Wednesday. The list (E-emergency clause):

LB444 (Carpenter)—Removing a $9,500 limit on the salary of the deputy attorney general and authorizing the attorney general to fix the salary. (36-4).

LB94 (Stryker, Ruhnke, Syas, Thompson, Claussen, Mahoney)—Defining domestic use of ground water as meaning "all uses of ground water required for human needs as it relates to health, fire control and sanitation" and including use for domestic livestock "as related to normal farm and ranch operations." (42-0).

LB234 (Klaver, Mahoney) — Increasing from $70 to $75 per month the maximum assistance payments to the aged and disabled. (37-5).

LB33 (Klaver, Foster)—Requiring all banking institutions to become members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) or, in the alternative, to furnish bond as prescribed. (40-1).

LB266 (Brandt, Russillo, McGinley)—Revising civil procedure law to provide that where a proper corporate supersedeas bond is approved and filed in court, the general lien of the judgment shall be dissolved (E) (40-0).

LB179 (Craft, Orme, Danner)—Dropping from Nebraska law the ban against interracial marriages. (29-12).

Canadians See Good Lesson In Ordeal Of Two Americans

Whitehorse, Yukon Territory (AP) —Canadian officials said Wednesday night the 49-day ordeal of pilot Ralph Flores and Helen Klaben should provide a good lesson —a new respect for the beautiful hazardous Yukon and more attention to survival gear.

The 21-year-old Brooklyn girl was enjoying her role as a heroine in surviving the nightmare though she faces the loss of her frostbitten 5 right toes.

The 42-year-old Californian pilot, with whom she hitched a ride to save on air fare, may face some more anxious moments on the possibility that he violated Canadian aviation regulations.

Heavy Penalty

Conviction for not carrying regulation survival gear prescribed for all flights over Canada's treacherous north could mean a $5,000 fine plus a year in jail.

But a spokesman for Canada's Federal Transport Department — the agency regulating aviation — said in Edmonton: "I have never heard of anyone being charged for flying without survival gear.

"It is usually felt the pilot (in such cases as this) has learned a lesson from his experience. The resulting publicity will also bring this to many others."

Prescribed

The prescribed survival gear for polar flights includes rations for two weeks, sleeping bags, guns and ammunition, axes, fishing tackle and other supplies.

Flores and Miss Kalben have said their only food was two cans of fruit salad, two cans of sardines and a few crackers. Miss Klaben said they also ate two tubes of toothpaste when their food ran out, and that Flores had had to use a hammer and chisel to cut firewood.

Flores and Miss Klaben — thankful for being rescued from where they crashed Feb. 4 — were looking forward to the future.

Both have made remarkable recoveries.

Out In Week

Doctors told Miss Klaben she can leave the hospital in a week. Meanwhile, she is being swamped by offers for her story. She has summoned her brother, Arthur, of Wethersfield, Conn., here to help her in negotiations. One magazine has offered $8,000.

Cheerful in the hospital as the center of attention, the Brooklyn girl has declined to discuss with news reporters some particulars of her adventure.

Flores talked by telephone with his wife, who lives with their 6 children in San Bruno, Calif., and said she might be able to visit him here.

He was flying home from Canada when his plane crashed — and his future plans are indefinite.

TWIN SURPRISE COMES ON WAY TO THE DOCTOR

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Otis Tune got a double surprise Wednesday after she started for the hospital.

First, 3-pound 13-ounce Ladonna was born in the back seat of the family car while it was still 3 minutes away from the hospital.

The second surprise came 30 minutes later—with the birth of 4-pound 8-ounce Dale Ray.

The Tunes hadn't expected twins, and Mrs. Tune said, "I think I even surprised my doctor with the twins."

Twins and mother are doing fine.

Cancer In Animals Overlooked As Possible Hazard

Washington (AP) — Cancers in animals, including dogs, may constitute a more or less overlooked hazard of transmission to man, a government cancer specialist said Wednesday.

Dr. Michael B. Shimkin of the National Cancer Institute said so in noting the growing research interest in the possibility that some forms of human cancer may be attributable to viruses.

In an article in Public Health Reports, a publication of the U.S. Public Health Service, Shimkin said the possible contributory relationship of man's biological environment to the cancer problem "has been more or less forgotten until the resurgence of studies on the virus etiology (causation) of cancer."

Of Interest

"Tumors in animals are of interest today," he wrote, "not only because they may demonstrate environmental factors shared by man, but because some animal species may be vectors (carriers) and transmitters of viruses that may cause neoplasms (malignancies) in man."

He said cancers occur among cattle, fowl, cats, dogs, fish, frogs, reptiles, and among wild animals kept in zoological parks.

Declaring that dogs develop a large number and variety of tumors, the scientist said:

"Dogs are the animals with which many Americans have the closest contact, and in our culture they seem to be considered as 3-year-old children with fur.

Needs Reappraisal

"Until now, the possible neoplastic significance of contact with dogs has not been considered, but the possibility is one that deserves reappraisal with modern methods."

He said it's now thoroughly established that viruses are the cause of some cancers in chickens, mice, rats and rabbits, and "less firmly established situations are seen in frogs, squirrels, deer and cattle."

There is as yet no proof that viruses cause any human cancer, he indicated, but added:

"Unless we are to believe that man and the animal species inhabit two separate and distinct universes, the assumption (of viral origin of some human cancers) is now a fairly safe one.

"The question is no longer, 'Is human cancer due to virus?' but rather, 'what viruses and what specific tumors are etiologically related, and what are the mechanisms involved?' "

Argentine Factions Are Urged To Unite

Buenos Aires (AP) — President Jose Maria Guido urged Argentina's political leaders Wednesday night to forget their squabbles and unite behind a grand agreement to save the crisis-ridden nation from chaos.

"We are facing a grave national emergency . . . a catastrophe," the small-statured, bespectacled Guido declared in a national radio-television address.

A few hours before he spoke, Guido's interior secretary, Rodolfo Martinez, resigned under mounting military pressure. Martinez was chief architect of the plan to give Peronists a voice in restored civilian government.

All Want Elections

Guido asserted that everyone in Argentina wants elections except "the eternal 5%" who he said always opposes them and who would "lead the country into chaos," opening the way "for any extremism."

The balding, 43-year-old Martinez refused to tell newsmen why he quit.

Guido blamed what he termed "the leading class" for slowing Argentine progress, but did not mention any names. The military has been his chief adversary in the struggle over letting Peronists take part in government.

Remember Words

"We should remember that classical and clear sentence of President Kennedy," he added. "Countries which live arguing about their present and their past are losing their future." If the nation goes on "amassing hatreds, resentments and yesterdays," he declared, the result could only be chaos.

Guido defended his government's plan to give Peronists a voice in government, saying: "We want to give them the chance of living in a democracy . . . it would be different to invoke democracy in order to live under a tyranny."

The president did not mention Martinez or anyone else by name.

Earlier in the day, a Defense Ministry communique proclaimed the armed forces to be the safeguards of democracy in Argentina and pledged to enforce all measures to prevent a return to dictatorship —meaning control by followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron.

Allow Peronists

Martinez' plan called for allowing the Peronist-front Union Popular to run candidates in the general elections, set for June 23 to restore rule to civilians. His plan would allow the party a limited say-so in government.

The Guido government's main prop has been a military faction which favors restored civilian rule. But this group, which won out in a brief armed clash last fall, appears to have lost ground steadily to the relentless anti-Peronists.

There has been frequent talk of another military coup such as last year's that was provoked by Peronist election victories and which ousted President Arturo Frondizi in Guido's favor.

The Defense Ministry's communique Wednesday said "because of the particular situation currently prevalent in the country (the military) has the task of taking all measures necessary to prevent totalitarian excesses . . . it would be incongruous to assume that words will not be followed by deeds."

Children Home Budget Presentation Tuesday

The State Home for Children will present its 1963-65 appropriations request to the Budget Committee next Tuesday, Superintendent Robert Rudell said Wednesday.

Rudell said the State Welfare Department is slated to have its budget request heard this Friday, but noted that even though the home is under that department, its budget hearing will be separate.

Foreign Delegates May Pep Up Pro-Fidel Meet

Niteroi, Brazil (AP) —Brazilian leftists looked Wednesday night to foreign supporters to fire up their pro-Castro pep meeting and salvage this week's so-called Cuban solidarity conference.

The meeting's 3-day international phase opens Thursday and is expected to draw about 200 foreign delegates. Brazilian leftists were diverted from Rio de Janeiro Tuesday by anti-Communist authorities and had to open the conference here.

Although the first day's session drew only 400 persons to a 500-seat union hall, the Brazilians hopefully booked the night session in a gymnasium capable of holding 10,000.

Stopped Meet

Gov. Carlos Lacerda of Guanabara State stopped the pro-Castro Brazilians from meeting in Rio de Janeiro and Rio police arrested 53 delegates. The rest fled to Niteroi in Rio de Janeiro State, a 5-mile ferry ride across Guanabara Bay.

Gov. Badger Silveira of Rio de Janeiro State, citing the Brazilian constitution's guarantees of free assembly and freedom of thought, said he would allow the leftists to meet in Niteroi.

The pressure continued, however, from Rio de Janeiro, where police raided the headquarters of the Social Labor Party Wednesday, confiscating propaganda favoring the conference, communism and Castro. One party worker was jailed on a charge of resisting arrest.

Block Mendoza

Authorities also blocked the entry into Brazil of Figueroa Mendoza, a Mexican who police said is considered "a dangerous person." He left on the same airliner which brought him to Brazil. A conference spokesman said Mendoza was a delegate to the meeting.

Purpose of the congress is to stir up anti-American sentiment and support for Brazil's soft policy toward Cuba. President Joao Goulart's government has taken no stand against the meeting but said it would not facilitate the issuance of visas to foreign delegates.

The newspaper Jornal do Brasil said Lacerda's action satisfied Goulart, who it said found the conference "disagreeable" but considered it "politically impractical" to act against it.

Called Fascist

In Havana, the government-controlled press labeled Lacerda a Fascist and said the conference was honored by his opposition.

The newspaper Hoy charged the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency with conspiring against the conclave. "In many Latin American countries, delegates have been the object of monstrous reprisal," said Hoy.

The paper added that the conference will "call for permanent mobilization against the new aggressive plans of the United States in the Caribbean."

Ostler, Janing, Gugas To Appear At Council Meet

Omaha (AP)— Police Chief C. Harold Ostler, Capt. Ted Janing and public safety Director Chris Gugas have been called to appear at a closed session of the City Council Tuesday.

The session will delve further into the removal of Capt. Ted Janing as head of the police vice squad. At a hearing Tuesday, Gugas said Janing was transferred for "consistent insubordination."

Two council members, Warren Swigart and Arthur Bradley Jr., demanded a further hearing. Swigart said Gugas "did not answer any questions" during his Tuesday appearance.

There's Variety In The Ayem News

Names make news, so they say, and when they are accompanied by such activity as coming home for the spring holiday — returning from a winter vacation, or by communiques from the nursery set, they make exceptionally nice news.

And it is the bassinet crowd that we have in mind at the moment — a brand new face in this group is that of Miss Julie Ann McGreer, who arrived on Tuesday March 26. The small Miss McGreer is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John T. McGreer, III, which in turn makes her the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. John T. McGreer, Jr. — and the great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McMcGreer.

Miss Julie Ann has other devoted grandparents and great-grandparents, too — Her maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Brewster of Holdrege, and in Holdrege, also, are two great-grandmothers, Mrs. Frank Webster and Mrs. Lee Hendricks.

But that doesn't conclude the story — There is a very proud great-grandfather in Fremont — Edward Ruwe. And in the baby's immediate family are her brother, John IV, and her sister Jane.

* * *

Back in town after a two weeks stay in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, III, who returned home a few days ago.

* * *

An attractive guest in town is Miss Jill Cole who arrived last Saturday from Northampton, Mass., and Smith College, where she is a junior, to spend her spring holiday with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cole.

Miss Cole, by the way, has been elected Assistant News Manager of the Smith College Press board, and is a member of the College Community Service board.

She will leave on Sunday, April 7, to return to Northampton and classes.

* * *

Mention of guests brings to mind Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Arnot and their sons, L. D. III, and Robbie, who arrived from Boulder, Colo., last evening to spend a week as the house guests of Mr. Arnot's parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Arnot.

News from the Allons-Y Dance Club tells us of new officers and new members—

The official staff for the coming year will include Mr. and Mrs. Redge K. Roper, president; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Haupt, vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Folk, secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gohde, treasurer.

New members are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eyth, Mr. and Mrs. John Gourlay, Mr. and Mrs. Rady A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Puls, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, III.

Dear Abby

Pick The Bone Out Of Court

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor went ahead and named her dog WILBUR when she knew perfectly well that WILBUR was my husband's name. I think she did it just for meaness. At night when she calls her dog, my husband goes to the window and barks just to get her goat. I have called my husband when he was down the road and that dog would come running. It is very annoying to have your husband mistaken for a dog. Can I take this woman to court for disturbing the peace or defaming my husband's character or something?

WILBUR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If your husband goes to the window and barks when your neighbor is calling her dog, SHE might have more to complain about than you. I think the bone you have to pick with your neighbor should be picked out of court.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: When someone asks you how to kiss, why do you brush it off like it was not a serious problem? I remember MY first kiss. I was 16 and thought a girl was supposed to hold her breath throughout the whole kiss. At the end of a very long kiss I was panting and absolutely blue in the face. The boy mistook this for wild passion and, of course, it ended up in a wrestling match.

LEARNED THE HARD WAY

DEAR LEARNED: When it comes to kissing, experience is the best teacher. Instructions are useless because one can't practice alone.

Head Junior Club

The Junior Woman's Club of Lincoln held its annual election of officers Wednesday afternoon following a spring luncheon at the Legion Club.

Awards Announced

The annual state conference of the Nebraska Society, DAR, closed Tuesday evening with the presentation of awards, and the delegates voted to hold the 1964 conference at Norfolk.

Among the awards presented were: Americanism award, Scottsbluff Junior College; CAR award, Manuel Lisa Chapter, Omaha; junior membership awards, Deborah Avery Chapter, Lincoln, Ft. Kearney Chapter, Kearney, and Council Cottonwood Chapter, Franklin.

Recognition was given to Mrs. K. D. Merdinger, Alliance High School faculty member of the Point of Rock Chapter, Alliance, as the recipient of a national Freedom Foundation Award.

St. Leger Cowley Chapter, Lincoln, received 35 awards for junior American Citizens activities, and other awards presented recognized membership and magazine subscription gains, and DAR historian essay contest winners for grade school pupils.

March Wedding

At a 6:30 o'clock ceremony on Saturday evening, March 23, the marriage of Miss Lois Lorraine Pape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Pape, to Henry Dettmer, son of the late Mrs. Mary Dettmer of Syracuse, took place at the Mount Olive Lutheran Church. The Rev. L. C. Gruendeman solemnized the service, and Miss Judy Gruendeman played the wedding music. Miss Carol Crawford was the vocal soloist.

Miss Bonnie Schmittker of Staplehurst, the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Arlis Pape of Princeton, and Miss Glenda Pape, appeared in alike frocks of pale pink brocade designed in the afternoon mode. Pink brocade hair bandeaux held in place their circular veils of pink illusion, and each carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Ted Leefers of Unadilla served as best man, and serving as groomsmen were Leland Albers of Otoe, and Milton Leefers of Unadilla. Seating the guests were Wayne Pape and Clifford Pape.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white Alencon lace and tulle. Seed pearls dotted the sabrina neckline of the long-sleeved, fitted bodice, and the wide skirt was given added bouffancy with a back panel of alternating lace and tulle ruffles. A crown of seed pearls held to the head her double-tiered veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses showered with satin ribbon.

Mr. Dettmer and his bride are residing at 2443 So. 38th St.

All Suburban Signs Point To Spring

KIMBALLCREST

The calendar has acknowledged it, the warm, sunny days are acknowledging it, and now Suburbia's housewives are acknowledging the beginning of the new season with their annual spring housecleaning.

Yes, brooms are in motion, dust mops emerge from windows, windows are sparkling and inviting April showers, rugs are up, lamp fixtures are down, mattresses are off, and wax and furniture polish are on . . . it must be spring.

Fortunately, this is one time of the year when such great physical exertion doesn't seem to ruin the social lives of our Suburbanites, for Suburbia is just as bustling as ever.

Kimballcrest residents Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dennis and their son, Craig, for example were hosts and hostess last Saturday following the final performance of the Southeast High School, "Knights On Broadway," production.

Guests at the late supper were the "girls" of the chorus line of the variety act in which Craig Dennis participated and included Dale Brockmeier, Gary Cooper, Dave Griffith, Barry Hanson, John Hoppe, Ron Pfeifer, and Dave Meyer.

The guests also included the boys' parents, their faculty sponsor, Bill Duffy, and Mrs. Howard McCoy. A gift was presented to Mr. Duffy and also to Mrs. McCoy, who assisted the boys with their dance routine.

A trip to Grand Island and a one day visit there was made a week ago by Kimballcrest residents Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Trabert.

During Mr. Trabert's business visit there, Mrs. Trabert visited her son and daughter-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trabert and Kathy, Bill, and Ann.

The Grand Island visitors returned to Lincoln that same evening.

More neighborhood residents traveling recently were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woolman who drove to Omaha on Sunday to help celebrate a grandson's first birthday. The family celebration was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Woolman's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Woolman, and it was for their young son, William.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Woolman's son-in-law and daughter, and their son, Peter, also drove from Lincoln for the celebration, and Mrs. K. D. Woolman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Hahn, formerly of Lincoln, were also guests at the Woolman home.

Sounds like this little fellow had a mighty big first birthday!

Bridal shower hostesses on Monday are to be Mrs. Lewis E. Harris and Mrs. Bruce Gillan, who will be entertaining 25 guests at the Harris home that evening.

The party's honoree is to be Miss Nancy Mourer who will wed Steve Roberts on April 13.

The shower is to be miscellaneous, and friends of Miss Moruer and her mother will be guests. Among the guests will be Miss Mourer's mother, Mrs. Kermit L. Mourer, and Mr. Roberts' mother, Mrs. Alan J. Roberts.

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

News from Country Club Manor this week comes from Mrs. Eddie Gold who entertained 10 Lincoln friends at her home on Tuesday. This was the monthly gathering of a group which, incidentally, is called the "Ivra Club."

Mrs. Gold's guests spent the evening playing bridge and (here's a switch), Mah Jongg, and finished the evening with dessert.

Mr. and Mrs. Gold also were very busy on Saturday evening when they were hosts at the Cornhusker for the regular gathering of another group of Lincoln friends, the "Saturday Night Club."

Guests at the Cornhusker on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marx, Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Marx, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lotman, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kauffman, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill.

Following canapes and dinner, the guests "divided," and the ladies spent the rest of the evening playing Mah-jong while the men played cards.

HAPPY HOLLOW HEIGHTS

Happy Hollow Heights residents will be happy to know that their neighbor, Mrs. Willard Hartz, is home now and "doing nicely," after her stay at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Hartz returned home on Saturday after a week in the hospital where she underwent surgery.

Greeting her on the return home were Mr. Hartz, the little ones, Paul and Patti Jo, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Christianson who have been visiting in Lincoln for two weeks now. Mr. and Mrs. Christianson will be returning to their home in Moorhead, Minn., in the near future.

t Seams To Me

Questions, Answers

Patricia Scott

There is no excuse for bulky, lumpy seams. No matter what type the seam is, there is a way to avoid bulk in finishing it.

* * *

Q. When making a seam with a point, as on a pointed collar or cuff, I always have trouble when I turn it to the right side. All that extra fabric forms a lump and I can't get a pointed look. What is wrong? — MRS. J. A.

A. When stitching a pointed seam, be sure to make one stitch across the point. Then cut across the point taking off all the excess fabric. Trim the rest of the seam trimming one seam allowance narrower than the other. Then, when you turn it to the right side, you'll have a good sharp point.

* * *

Q. I have a terrible time with bulky seams. The big problem is where two seams cross each other. No matter how well I press them there is always a lump showing on the right side, especially if the material is heavy. What can be done to avoid this? — MRS. T. McC.

A. Crossed seams need special care. First stitch one seam and press it open. Next clip off the ends of the seam allowances diagonally as shown in the diagram. Then follow the same procedure with the other seam. Join the two seams, matching them perfectly and press open. Do this and I'm sure you'll have no bulk problems.

* * *

Q. What is the difference between gathering and shirring? It all looks the same to me but one set of instructions refers to one and another to the other. Help! — MISS B. R.

A. They look the same to you because they are done in exactly the same way. But this is the difference: Gathering is done by using a long stitch on your machine and then pulling the bobbin thread to form the gathers. In "gathering," only one or two rows are gathered. Shirring is done in the same manner, but three or more rows are gathered to form "shirring."

In response to request for reprints of her series on slipcovers, Patricia Scott has compiled them in booklet form, HOW TO MAKE SLIPCOVERS. For your copy of this helpful booklet, write to Miss Scott, Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♠

Opening lead—three of diamonds.

Here is a neat hand in which the declarer succeeded in fulfilling an ambitious contract of six spades. It is not easy to make twelve tricks, even looking at all four hands, but declarer managed the affair without having this advantage.

West led a diamond and dummy's jack was covered by the queen and king. Declarer played a diamond to the ace and led the ten of spades and finessed. West won the king and returned a trump.

South took it in his hand, ruffed a diamond in dummy, and finessed the queen of hearts. When this succeeded, he played a spade to the queen and repeated the heart finesse. That brought about the following position:

North
♣ A K 2

West — Immaterial

East
♥ K 5
♣ Q J 8

South
♣ 10 9 4

Now came the crucial play. Normally, declarer, not seeing the opponents' cards, would lead the ace of hearts and hope the suit was originally divided 3-3. In that case he would be able to dispose of his club loser on the established ten of hearts.

But the South player in this case decided that the hearts were divided 4-2 and that East had started with four to the king. He had seen West play the seven and then the nine on the first two heart leads.

So he led the ace of spades instead, hoping that a squeeze might operate against East. He discarded a club from dummy on the spade. East could not spare a heart, so he also discarded a club.

South thereupon cashed the A-K of clubs and made the last two tricks with the ace of hearts and ten of clubs.

Florida GOP Staging Comeback In Legislature

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP)—Cashing in on Democratic apathy and staging a concerted campaign of its own, Florida's outnumbered but growing Republican Party held Wednesday its greatest number of state legislative seats since Reconstruction Days.

Republicans grabbed 12 of 34 seats they sought in special elections held Tuesday to give Florida's urban counties the additional representation to which a federal court said they were entitled.

The victories boosted Republican-held seats to 16 of 125 in the Florida house and to 2 of 45 in the Senate—still a tiny minority, but big enough to hold the balance of power on elose issues.

Break Tradition

The Republicans broke into traditional Democratic strongholds in the special elections, sometimes taking all of the new seats in counties where the old ones were held by Democrats.

Up to now, Republican strength in the legislature has waxed and waned according to the election year. The gains come during presidential election years.

Reasons for Tuesday's Republican gains in 6 counties are varied.

'That Happens'

Gov. Farris Bryant said simply: "That's what happens when the Democrats don't vote."

Why they didn't vote was another matter. Some observers said the Democrats, who had to use two party primaries to choose among upward of a dozen candidates for nominees, were tired of voting by the time election day came around.

Compared with the registered voter list, the election ballot was light.

Another comment was that the Republicans, being the underdog party, were not hampered by internal bickering and could make a concerted effort.

Additionally, the Democrats depended upon state and county leadership while the Republicans brought in regional party workers and organizers to help direct the campaigns.

One Democratic leader who made a tour of the state said Republicans were better organized and were making door-to-door campaigns while Democrats were disorganized and fighting among themselves.

Jimmy James, Democratic state committeeman from Dade County—where the 14 Democratic candidates defeated their Republican opponents soundly—said after the elections:

"It is clear now beyond a doubt that there are many Republicans registered as Democrats. I think now is the time for true Republicans to register as Republicans and create a two-party system in Florida."

Social Security, Medi Care Plans Adopted By Cuba

Key West, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has adopted a cradle-to-grave social security and medical care system, Havana Radio reported Wednesday.

The broadcast said the Council of Ministers Tuesday night approved a plan which pays birth and funeral benefits, subsidizes ailing or injured workers and their dependents, provides pensions for the disabled and aged and pays medical and dental expenses.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. But Atty. Gen. Sees No Evil

. . . 'ETHICAL MATTER'

Atlanta (AP) — Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said Wednesday telephone records showed that Wally Butts, former Georgia athletic director, had placed calls to persons who had been involved in gambling on college sports events.

"But there is no evidence that Butts was engaged in gambling," said Cook. The attorney general also indicated his investigation had shown no violation of state laws in alleged telephone conversations between Butts and coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

Cook indicated that final disposition of the Butts-Bryant case would be up to the Southeastern Conference as an ethical, not legal, matter.

Post Story

The Saturday Evening Post said in its March 23 edition that Butts telephoned Bryant and gave away Georgia's football secrets 8 days before the Sept. 22 game which Alabama won, 35-0.

Butts and Bryant have denied the charges. Butts has filed a $10 million libel suit against the Post publishers. Both men have denied gambling on football games.

"Tabulations of telephone calls placed by Butts were made to some persons who had records of having been involved in gambling on intercollegiate contests," Cook said.

Some of the calls were made shortly before the alleged Sept. 14 call from Butts to Bryant, Cook said.

The attorney general said the calls were under investigation by the U.S. Senate Investigations Committee. Chief Counsel Donald F. O'Donnell of the committee was not available for comment.

O'Donnell said Tuesday he had found no evidence of gambling in connection with the Post story and that his investigation might take 3 months.

Butts' attorney, William H. Schroder, said he understood Cook's statement "informed the public that there is no evidence that coach Wallace Butts was engaged in gambling.

"O'Donnell has repeatedly stated that he uncovered no evidence that either coach Butts of coach Bryant had been or were engaged in any gambling activity, and he is working hand in hand with Mr. Cook's office.

"As I understand it, it is Mr. O'Donnell's mission to investigate this field and not that of Mr. Cook.

"I cannot understand how one holding the high position of attorney general . . . could in one breath insinuate that he had uncovered evidence which implies that Wallace Butts had gambled on football games and then in the very next breath say there is no evidence to support such an insinuation."

Schroder wrote Cook that he believed nothing could be gained by subjecting Butts to a second lie detector test. Cook had asked Butts to take a polygraph test after the former coach had said another type test showed he was innocent of the Post charges.

"In my judgment, nothing can be gained by us getting into the middle of a scrap between the manufacturers of competing lie detector machines, each of which has its own die-hard supporters," Schroder wrote.

"We are now in the courthouse. We will fight it out there — Wallace Butts against the Saturday Evening Post, not against lie detector machines, not against anything or anybody but the accuser."

Almost Complete

Cook indicated his investigation, begun nearly two weeks ago, was almost complete and a report would be made Monday to Gov. Carl E. Sanders who ordered the state probe.

. . . METS' CRAIG ANDERSON A WINNER AT LAST

White Sox 3, Senators 0

Sarasota, Fla. (AP) — Early Wynn and Ed Fisher yielded only one single each as the Chicago White Sox blanked the Washington Senators, 3-0 Wednesday.

Wynn, striving for active status, turned in his second scoreless 3-inning performance. The 42-year-old veteran thus hinted strongly he may nail down the one victory he needs to reach the coveted 300-win goal in the regular campaign.

Fisher, who had been hit hard in all previous outings, hurled the last 6 innings and faced only 20 batters, two over the minimum.

O'Toole extended his string of scoreless innings to 14 by blanking the Dodgers on 4 hits through the first 6 frames. Flavin, who had a 12-2 record at San Diego last year, hurled hitless ball the last 3 innings, though he was in trouble in the 8th when he filled the bases on walks.

Braves 6, Tigers 1

West Palm Beach, Fla. (AP)—Six-hit pitching by Lew Burdette and Bob Hendley and a pair of 3-run innings gave the Milwaukee Braves a 6-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday.

Jim Bunning became the first Tiger pitcher to go all the way, but his two bad innings beat him. The Braves bunched 7 of their 9 hits in the first and 3rd before the veteran righthander settled down.

Burdette continued his spectacular pitching by limiting the Tigers to 4 hits and one run in 6 innings. The run was the first earned off him this spring. He now has pitched 23 innings and has an earned run average of 0.39.

Neal's blow off Bob Duliba, following a damaging error by Phil Gagliano, made a winning pitcher of Craig Anderson for the first time in 17 decisions. The victory evened the spring series between the Cards and Mets.

Dove Debate Slated

—SENATOR ENGLE GIVES WARNING—

"Requiem For Boxing?"

Washington (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., co-sponsor of a bill to put professional boxing under federal regulation, predicted Wednesday the sport soon will be outlawed in this country unless it is reformed.

Referring to the fatal ring injuries suffered recently by former featherweight champion Davey Moore in California, Engle said in a statement: "In this tragic death, the nation and the world have witnessed a requiem for a boxer."

He added: "It may be that we are also witnessing the requiem for boxing itself.

"The sport is on trial. The charge is legalized manslaughter and corruption. And the odds-on favorite, I would say, is the prosecution. Unless something is done in a hurry, chances for acquittal are slight."

Engle has joined Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., in introducing a bill providing for a national boxing commissioner to license fighters, promoters and managers, to get fitness and health check-up standards, and otherwise to regulate professional boxing.

Engle maintained that federal regulation is necessary.

"The states are blocked by the interstate aspects of the business," he said. "Powers of local commissions often stop at state borders. A boxer not permitted to fight in one state can go into another state and continue boxing."

Omaha's Junior Wrestlers Drop Lincoln City Champs

By DAVE HOWE
Star Sports Writer

Omaha's junior wrestling champions defeated Lincoln's junior champs, 37-6, Wednesday night, earning their 3rd consecutive title from Lincoln.

Omaha wasted no time taking the lead as the championship matches got under way at the Salvation Army Center, and won the first 4 weight divisions.

Lincoln's first win came in the 80 pound event when Doug Dufek decisioned Omaha's Dick Ekfelt in an overtime match. The second and only other Lincoln event winner was Mike Shelley who earned the 120 pound division title on a decision, 4-0.

Five of the 11 weight divisions, ranging from the 50-pound class to heavyweight, were won by pins.

The fastest pin of the evening came in the heavyweight match when Omaha's Mike Goodman pinned Dave Feerhuson in 31 seconds.

Other falls were in the 60, 70, 110 and 140 pound divisions, all won by Omaha grapplers.

Lincoln coach Newt Copple presented a trophy to each event winner, following the matches.

National NCAA wrestling champion Mike Nissen refereed the matches which were the 3rd of a series of meets between Lincoln and Omaha junior wrestling champs.

149 MPH Reached By Lotus Racer

Indianapolis (AP) — A Ford-powered Lotus race car from England turned a lap at 149.378 miles an hour Wednesday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Stepping out of the low-slung green racer, Dan Gurney said:

"If we can get those carburetors working right, we can start going fast."

His speed was less than 1.5 miles an hour slower than the 150.729 track record set by Parnelli Jones last May in qualifications for the 500-mile Memorial Day race.

Gurney, who lives at Costa Mesa, Calif., had the Lotus-Ford out for test runs to try to work out bugs in the 8 down-draft carburetors and adjustments in cockpit and chassis.

The car isn't entered in this year's 500-mile race but is a prototype of two entries of Colin Chapman which are expected to have additional refinements when they arrive here, probably in late April.

Gurney said the car develops about 360 horsepower from an engine weighing only 350 pounds.

Gurney's speed was considered remarkable, since winter cracks in the asphalt track surface haven't been repaired yet, and he drove in dust and sand.

Olympics Exec Irked By AAU

. . . CONCERNING LA RELAYS

Los Angeles (AP)— A member of the executive board of the Southern California Committee for the Olympic Games charged a top national AAU official Wednesday with discriminating against the annual Los Angeles Coliseum Relays.

Frank Bull, a member of the committee which stages the relays said his group talked by long distance telephone Tuesday with Col. Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU.

Denied Sanction

The AAU, Bull said has denied sanction to the relays, scheduled for May 17.

"We asked Hull why the AAU would sanction the Drake and Penn Relays but not our relays," said Bull. In both meets college and AAU athletes competed.

"He replied it was because we were the biggest."

Hull, in New York, was not available for comment.

Federation OK

The U.S. Track and Field Federation, involved in a row with the AAU, has given its sanction to the meet.

"We sent out simultaneous request to the AAU and the Federation for their respective sanctions," Bull said. "Apparently the Federation got its first and approved it.

"The Southern California Committee has always maintained equal relations with the AAU and the colleges. We favor neither in the present controversy.

"All we want to do is put on our track meet," Bull said.

Foreign Athletes

"We have invited 5 Russian athletes, Peter Snell of New Zealand and other foreign athletes," he continued.

"We are going to look awful silly if we have to write the Russians and the others not to come and tell them the reason is because our people can't come to an understanding."

The committee is slated to meet Tuesday to decide whether to cancel the relays.

Big Recruiting Push Distorts Views

By STEVE SNIDER

New York (UPI)—Purely personal pet peeves:

The annual big push by the colleges to grab off star high school athletes with the result that some of those youngsters are bombarded by 60 or more head-spinning "offers" and a distorted view of campus life.

Three-hour baseball games, 7-hour doubleheaders and any twi-night doubleheader regardless of its length.

A 50-yard field goal in pro football on the theory that 3 points provide too much of a penalty on the defensive team for permitting an opponent to cross mid-field.

Golf galleries that give the marshals a bad time.

Marshals that give golf galleries a bad time.

People who rush to the front with a great hue and cry about banning boxing after a ring tragedy such as Davey Moore's death but who never are heard from at other times in contrast to dedicated anti-boxing lobbyists who—right or wrong—never give up.

Those in the NCAA AAU dispute who keep the feud flaring for selfish reasons rather than burying the hatchet so the athletes can romp unrestrained.

Any basketball team that goes over 100 points on the scoreboard (make it 120 among the pros).

Ties in any sport except horse-racing if it's my horse that gets up there in a dead heat.

Shortstops who never touch second base but just make a pass at it while making the 4-6-3 double play.

Slow-moving baseball players who lead the league in fielding because they can't get close enough to touch chances to be charged with an error.

Any tennis match that has to go 5 sets (unless the Davis Cup is involved) when a best-of-3 set match would do just as well.

Gamblers who call in for basketball scores insisting, "my son plays for Blue Point Tech and I can't find last night's score anywhere."

Any pass interference call in football that I didn't happen to see.

Pass interference I saw and the officials didn't.

Auto race drivers who insist it's safer on a track than on the city streets or highways, even though it could be true.

Still, a guy could get bored with perfection, couldn't he?

50-Yard Freestyle Battle Promises Exciting Start

. . . IN NCAA MEET

Raleigh, N.C. (AP) — A brilliant 50-yard freestyle battle among Minnesota's Steve Jackman and at least two Yale swimmers promises to get the 40th annual NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships off to a record-breaking start Thursday.

The 50-yard freestyle is one of 5 events scheduled for the first day of the 40th annual meet running through Saturday night in North Carolina State's swimming stadium.

Other events Thursday include the 500-yard freestyle, 400-yard individual medley, one-meter diving and 400-yard medley relay. Trials are in the afternoon with all finals at night.

Jackman holds the National Collegiate and NCAA Championship records of :21.1 in the 50-yard freestyle. He set the mark in last year's NCAA meet as he edged Yale's Mike Austin.

Austin is back, along with teammates Steve Clark and Dave Lyons. All 3 could qualify for Thursday's final.

Yale's depth in this event and several others led coaches to pick the Elis to dethrone Ohio State as team champion. In a national poll conducted by the American Swimmer magazine, Yale polled 28 of 48 first place votes.

Minnesota and Southern California are also rated above Ohio State, which is returning 4 of 7 individual defending champions and seeking its 12th team title.

Indiana, strongest in the nation, isn't eligible. The Big 10 champion Hoosiers are on NCAA probation.

Other members of the Husker traveling squad are Don Schindel, of; Fred Youngscap, c; Phil Gilbert, of; Jim Kahrhoff, p; Rod Beckman, 2b; George Landgren, p; Ernie Bonistall, p; Dave May, lb-c.

The series at Tulsa opens the season for the Cornhuskers who have been handicapped by a lack of outdoor workouts.

Ewbank Just One Of Men Considered

. . . AS TITAN'S MENTOR

New York (AP) — Weeb Ewbank is just one of the men being considered for the head coaching job with the New York Titans — and Ewbank isn't sure he'd want the job, anyhow.

This was the situation Wednesday on the question of who will replace Clyde (Bulldog) Turner as coach of the revamped American League football team.

There was a report afloat that the post is going to Ewbank, released earlier this year as coach of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, but both the Titans and the coach said it was premature.

"We have talked with Ewbank but we have talked with several others, too," said David A. Werblin, who heads the 5-man syndicate which recently laid out $1 million for the right to operate the bankrupt Titan franchise.

"We are still considering several candidates."

The report that Ewbank would get the Titan post came from a former official of the club who asked not to be identified.

In Baltimore, Ewbank said the report was "premature and unfounded."

"They have been making it very attractive," Ewbank said. "I don't know what to do. You always listen, and I listened, but I have not reached a decision yet.

"Football is in my blood and I won't give the impression I won't take another football job."

Ewbank coached the Baltimore Colts from 1954 through last season, winning the championship in 1958 and 1959. He was voted pro Coach of the Year in 1958.

DEVANEY PLANS CHANGES

When Nebraska's football squad starts spring drills here Apr. 5, some position changes will be tried, Coach Bob Devaney said Wednesday.

The spring workouts will be capped by the intrasquad game which features All-Sports Day, May 11.

Bubak Named As New Head Coach At St. Paul

St. Paul — Dale Bubak, coach of the 8-man high school football champion last fall, has been named head football coach at St. Paul.

The Hayes Center coach will replace Don Schmaderer, who resigned to enroll at Iowa U. for physical therapy training.

NU Mermen Set 2 Marks

Warming up for the NCAA swimming championships to be held at Raleigh, N.C., Mar. 28-29-30, the University of Nebraska mermen set two varsity records, Coach Cal Bentz announced.

Vern Bauers, Keefe Lodwig, Jeff Amsler and Phil Swaim swam the 200-yard free style relay in 1:32.0. Lodwig, Bauers, Bill Fowles and Swaim set a new mark of 1:44.4 in the 200-yard medley relay.

Bill Henry, injured in a recent accident, will not make the trip to the nationals. Lodwig will swim Henry's leg in the medley which Nebraska won in the Big Eight championships.

A Nebraska freshman swimming team comprising Tom Nickerson, Mike Jackson, Dave Frank and Ron Gabrielson finished second in the junior nationals at Kansas City in the 200-yard medley relay. The Husker foursome had a time of 1:46 3 which set a school record.

Planners Recommend Zone Changes For Campgrounds

City zoning code changes that would create a "G-1 planned commercial district" classification and authorize "a special use permit for campgrounds for tents and camping trailers" were recommended Wednesday by the City-County Planning Commission.

The commission agreed to forward the recommended amendments to the City Council. They have received public hearings and several weeks of study.

Under the special permit proposal, campgrounds could be located in rural and public use or light industrial districts with special approval by the council.

Requirements for the campgrounds proposed:

— each trailer or tent site within the campgrounds must contain 1,000 square feet and be separated from each other or other buildings by 50 feet.

— a water supply and sanitary facilities, including sewage disposal, approved by the health department.

— occupancy of a camp or trailer site be limited to 30 days and occupancy records be kept by the campgrounds operator.

— a camping trailer is defined as 8-feet or less in width and not exceeding 29 feet or alternatively 4,500 pounds gross weight.

— house trailers or mobile homes would be barred from campgrounds.

— the campground maintain a front yard of 100 feet and a side yard of 50 feet.

—special use permit would be temporary and valid during period campgrounds complies with health department requirements and code provisions.

— a plot plan of the proposed campgrounds must accompany application for a special permit.

Commercial Zoning

The proposed "G-1 planned commercial" zoning class would permit the same uses as in "G local business" except for mortuaries, laundries or launderettes.

However, the district has greater area regulations, including a 50-foot front yard and side yards of 20 feet and rear yards of 50 feet when abutting a residential district.

A minimum area of 5 acres is required for this zoning classification, which includes no parking in required front, side or rear yards, flat wall signs and no free standing signs except for service stations, and no first-floor residential uses.

The commission also recommended this zoning classification for Peterson Construction Company's proposed 8-acre commercial tract at the southwest corner of 84th and O.

The commission also recommended that "A-2 single-family residential" district requirements be modified to specify an average lot width of 60 feet with a minimum of 6,000 square feet of lot area as compared with the present 50 foot minimum.

The proposed change would affect residential lots platted or recorded after April 1, 1963, under the commission recommendation.

Permit Approved For Reller's Trailer Court

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended approval of a special use permit for a 213-space trailer court at 4100 Cornhusker Hwy.

Center Trailer Court has 159 trailer spaces and proposes expansion to another 54 spaces under a submitted plot plan.

The commission recommendation to the City Council was conditioned upon the trailer court owner bringing a reported 21 non-conforming trailer spaces into conformance with city trailer court regulations.

Merril R. Reller, attorney and owner, contended the court was subject to county trailer court regulations, but City Atty. Ralph Nelson advised the commission that city regulations apply under state law giving Lincoln a 3-mile zoning jurisdiction outside its corporate limits.

Path Cleared

Path for approval of a special permit was cleared by a re-zoning of the property several weeks ago by the council.

With a Supreme Court case report in hand, Reller told the commission that it could not refuse to grant the trailer court permit.

"The court has said people living in trailer courts are not living in sin," he said. "I am here to inquire why (this) special permit should not be granted."

"I want action," he continued, suggesting he would get "a mandatory injunction to operate if I don't get the special permit."

The City-County Health Department reported approval of water and sewage plans, but noted "much interference with our administrative duties" in attempting to make a field check.

On his repeated demand for action during the hearing, Reller was assured by Chairman E. J. Faulkner that his application would receive the "same expeditious treatment as possible and consideration as any other citizen."

In other action, the commission approved a 50-by-100-foot extension of "C four-family dwelling" zoning on property near 52nd and Benton as requested by W. F. Steele.

One area resident protested additional duplexes and four-plexes in this neighborhood.

Other commission action:

—deferred application of Hoppe Door Sales Co. for A-2 residential zoning plus local business site for property south of Hoppe Heights and Beal's Slough and near 40th and Hwy. 2.

—approved preliminary plat of Svoboda Heights First Addition near 33rd and Stockwell subject to required $11,000 storm sewer.

—approved final plats of Lynn Subdivision, a 14-lot replat near 56th and Myrtle and of Broadview First Subdivision, a 19-lot plat between 34th and 36th and Calvert and Sheridan with the vacating of unopened 36th.

—approved final plat of Fiene Terrace First Addition between 36th and 40th, Pioneer and LaSalle.

Normal Board's Meeting Shifted To Wayne State

The March meeting of the State Normal Board, originally scheduled in Lincoln Thursday, has been shifted to Wayne State Teachers College and will be held Friday, Board Secretary Albin Larson reported Wednesday.

The board will use the occasion also to survey Wayne's building needs.

At the direction of the Legislature's Budget Committee, the board is compiling a priority list of capital improvement needs over the next 6 years.

The board already has visited Peru State Teachers and will visit Kearney Saturday. A visit to Chadron is programmed early in April.

Legislature Axes Safflower Bill

Nebraska's Legislature Wednesday killed, once and for all, a bill which would have permitted the substitution of safflower oil for milk fat in ice cream.

Killed once on a 4-2 vote of the Public Health Committee, the bill was revived on the floor recently on a 26-10 vote at the urging of its principal introducer, Sen. George Fleming of Sidney.

But on general file Wednesday, the measure was buried 23-17, reflecting heavy opposition from the dairy industry which feared loss of an outlet for its product.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff made the kill motion, prompted, he said, by the wishes of dairymen in his area. He said he did not want to contribute to an even greater surplus of dairy products.

Sen. Fleming said the safflower industry, currently concentrated in the Sidney area, needs the help which the bill will provide. Nebraska should do what it can to encourage new industry, he said, noting that safflower is not a surplus crop.

Fleming insisted that the bill, LB413, would increase the use of dairy products because persons who now refuse to eat ice cream made with milk fat because of its cholesterol content would consume the non-cholesterol product made with safflower oil, which still would be constituted 85% of milk.

The Legislature advanced by Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, adding county law 33-0 LB166, a bill sponsored libraries to the list of offices receiving from the state copies of Supreme Court reports, laws of the session and statutes.

Senator Claims World-Herald Avoiding Proper Property Tax

A backer of the state income tax bill Wednesday charged that the Omaha World-Herald has avoided paying its proper share of property taxes.

"When these facts are known to the people of Nebraska," said Sen. Lloyd Stalder of Humboldt, "all of the long columns of advice and high-sounding editorials in regard to retaining the state property tax become as a tinkling cymbal and sounding brass."

Stalder is a co-introducer of the state income tax bill, LB612, scheduled for floor debate April 22. The World-Herald long has opposed sales or income taxes for Nebraska.

Stalder's floor speech, made on a point of personal privilege, touched off an animated discussion, much of it in defense of the newspaper.

Asks Figures Check

At one point, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff moved that the tax commissioner be asked to check the tax figures of the World Publishing Co. because Stalder's accusations had put the newspaper "in a bad position."

"I think we owe that to the Omaha World-Herald," Carpenter said.

But when Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion proposed that Carpenter's motion be amended to call for a tax study of all newspapers, Carpenter withdrew his motion with the unanimous consent of colleagues.

"I don't want to be a party to investigating all newspapers because they are all essentially in the same position," Carpenter said.

The inconclusive discussion brought one disclosure: Sen. Carpenter, who made a widely-publicized one-man tax investigation in Nebraska in 1959, disclosed he has prepared a resolution calling for another tax enforcement study to be made following the current session.

The entire discussion Wednesday began with distribution by Stalder of an informant sheet showing that World Publishing Co. real estate in 1962 was assessed at an actual value of $4.9 million, an assessed value (35% of actual value) of $1.7 million.

Stalder noted that the firm was sold last year "for a reported amount of over $40 million."

Stalder acknowledged that the distributed figures covered only real estate valuations, but said furniture and fixtures additionally carried an actual value of $1.2 million and assessed valuation of $427,270.

Several senators, including George Syas of Omaha and Sam Klaver of Omaha, took the floor to explain that factors other than actual physical property went into the sale of the firm — such things as good will, circulation, name and other intangibles.

But Stalder argued that the discrepancy between the tax valuations and the selling price means that rural Nebraska taxpayers "are now paying not only our fair share but we are also paying the World Publishing Company's share of property tax . . ."

"Senators, how much longer will we continue to submit outselves to this brazen injustice?" Stalder asked.

Stalder said that if farm land worth $160 per acre were taxed in the manner of the World-Herald, the assesed valuation would be $7 per acre.

'Forfeited Rights'

"The Omaha World-Herald, by being a party to this gross evasion of taxes has forfeited all their sacred rights as a newspaper to give advice or help mold public opinion," he said.

In defense of the World-Herald, Carpenter said Douglas County Assessor Joseph Stolinski is one of the most qualified assessors in Nebraska and performs well in all areas except that of assessing household goods. Carpenter said the World-Herald "is doing the same as every other taxpayer does in all 93 counties."

"I hope some day we elect a governor who has the guts to see that the tax laws of the state are enforced," Carpenter said. The senator said neither the present governor nor any previous governor in his memory has done so.

Sen. Payne said Stalder had been "grossly unfair" in singling out one industry for harassment because its views differed with those of Stalder.

In response to a newsman's question, State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson said neither his office nor the governor has any authority to determine equity of any individual assessment or change it.

He said any resident of a county can appeal from any individual assessment to the county board of equalization. Appeals from decisions of the county board may be taken to district court.

Johnson noted the State Board of Equalization, of which the governor is chairman and he is a member, may only change classifications of assessments.

Herald: 'Fair Assessment'

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha World-Herald Wednesday night said the $4,935,350 actual value assessment of the World Publishing Co. in 1962 "was a fair assessment."

Replying to an attack on the floor of the Legislature by Sen. Lloyd Stalder of Humboldt, the newspaper said, "If Sen. Stalder does not agree, he should challenge it in proper ways; assessing property is not one of the functions of the Legislature."

The World-Herald said the assessed value of its real estate "is indeed less than the approximately $40 million for which the World-Herald was sold in 1962. However, the buyer did not buy merely an assortment of real estate; he bought a business, a newspaper. If Sen. Stalder does not understand the difference, we feel sure his colleagues do."

The paper, in an editorial printed in its Thursday morning editions, said the $4,935,350 figure did not include real estate owned by the subsidiary Herald Corp.

Stalder, a backer of the state income tax bill, charged the newspaper has avoided paying its proper share of property taxes.

The editorial declared that in his attack in the Legislature, Stalder "was guilty of an effrontery seldom matched in that chamber."

Referring to the state senator's comment that under the circumstances the newspaper should withhold further editorial comment on the income-tax bill before the Legislature, the World-Herald said:

"We will continue to oppose Sen. Stalder's pet measure, the state income tax bill. We will fight this bill because We think it would be bad for the people and bad for the state."

DELAY DEBATE OF MEAT PRICE TO THURSDAY

Debate on a legislative resolution which would direct Gov. Frank Morrison to investigate livestock and meat prices has been delayed until Thursday.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings Wednesday asked the delay so that he might draft an amendment to Resolution 26 "spelling out the fact that they (the governor and the Department of Agriculture) have due authority to proceed."

A motion to kill the resolution is pending.

7 Education Men Favor Testing All 8th Graders

The 7 members of the Legislature's Education Committee favor a uniform testing program involving Nebraska's 27,000 eighth grade students.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said results of such a test would "settle once and for all" whether the quality of elementary education varies between rural and consolidated school districts.

Tuesday, Don Lienemann of Papillion, a spokesman for the Nebraska School Improvement Association, said he would "love to see" a statewide test contrasting achievement of rural and city school students.

He made the comment while testifying on LB500, a bill which proposes to toughen Nebraska school district reorganization statutes.

Lienemann said, "When I compare what my 4 children are getting (in the Papillion schools) with what I received (in a rural school) I can prove my children are being cheated."

He drew applause when he said "the State Board of Education and the State Education Department should buckle down and put back basic fundamentals" in Nebraska school curriculums.

Voicing support of a testing program were Sens. Warner, M. M. Forrester of Anselmo, Edward Danner of Omaha, Ross Rasmussen of Hooper, Clifton Foster of Bradshaw, Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, and Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth.

U.S. Oil Industry Gets Last Word

. . . IN TAX CUT HEARINGS

Washington (UPI) — The politically potent oil industry had the last word Wednesday as the House Ways & Means Committee ended public hearings on President Kennedy's plan to cut income taxes $10.3 billion over the next 3 years.

More than 30 witnesses, including the governors of Oklahoma, Montana, Indiana and Wyoming, appeared on the final day to oppose the higher taxes Kennedy's program would impose on profits from production of oil and gas.

The proposed tougher tax rules would yield about $280 million in revenue from the petroleum industry. For many oil and gas producers the resultant tax boost would more than offset pocketbook savings they would get from the reduction in corporation and individual tax rates proposed by the President.

Protest Taxes

Governors Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, Tim Babcock of Montana, Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, and Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming protested that heavier taxes on oil would curtail job opportunities in their states and elsewhere and, thus, undermine the President's goal of stimulating the economy.

Similar views were set forth in a written statement from Gov. John A. Love of Colorado. Four of the 5 governors are Republicans. Welsh, who appeared on behalf of the 33-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission, is a Democrat.

The committee's testimony from public witnesses began on Feb. 18 and produced an estimated 1,000,000 words of direct oral testimony from more than 200 persons representing just about every economic interest in the country. In addition, countless written statements were submitted for the record.

Endorse Cuts

To no one's surprise, the testimony added up for the most part to (1) endorsement of tax cuts, with many witnesses insisting that Kennedy's record-high budget must be cut, too; and (2) opposition to tax boosting revisions from the groups that would be adversely affected.

Congress is expected to reduce income taxes this year but to reject most, if not all, of the tax-tightening revisions sought by the President. The tax legislation probably will move slowly through Congress and not reach the White House before October.

The Ways & Means Committee, where all tax legislation originates, plans to begin reviewing the President's proposals in closed door discussions with Treasury officials, starting next week. No committee action is anticipated until after House members return from their Easter recess in the last week of April. Probably not before June will a bill emerge from the committee.

It is unlikely that the final product which goes to the White House will contain more than a token part, if that, of the tougher tax treatment recommended by the President for the oil industry.

Mayor Of Cleveland Acts To Stop Strike

Cleveland, Ohio, (UPI) — Mayor Ralph Locher Wednesday threatened to insist on continuous negotiating sessions between publishers and printers to settle the 118-day Cleveland newspaper strike, which has broken all records for a metropolitan blackout.

The mayor said he would reenter the bargaining talks unless "significant progress" was made at Wednesday's sessions.

The strike has idled 3,000 employes at Scripps-Howard Press-News and the Morning Plain Dealer, which have a combined circulation of 700,000.

'No Indication'

At the end of Tuesday's talks, which lasted until shortly before midnight, Clifford Hilpert, president of Local 53 of the International Typographical Union, said "in comparison with the publishers' position of last Friday, we see no indication that they are prepared to settle."

Hilpert said the last offer by the publishers was valued at $10.95 over two years. Challenging the management appraisal of the package, Hilpert said 620 members of his union and the publishers are still $5 or $6 apart."

Management negotiators have tried to hold the line at a $10 wage package, stepping over $10 only in awarding fringe benefits.

Agreement with the non-striking photoengravers was reached late Saturday on a package valued at $13.10.

2 Unsettled

Only two other unions remain without a settlement, the machinists with 14 members at both plants and the operating engineers with 30 members.

However, the engineers may announce settlement after a meeting with the publishers Thursday and the striking machinists are not expected to bar publication.

Another union, the still striking Teamsters Local 473 which began the strike in a surprise walkout Nov. 29, has announced conditional settlement.

Three unions already have signed contracts, the pressmen, paperhandlers and the newspaper guild.

FREE DELIVERY—HESTED'S FURNITURE—24 MONTHS TO PAY

The brotherhood of Knights of Wine-Tasting met the other evening in the chandeliered elegance of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

It was a most stylish affair — caviar and grape, black tie and diamonds.

The Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevin is an ancient organization of Burgundy, France. The members are devoted to the wines of the region. And, in the year 1200, several of our honored Knights fought duels with low persons who favored the grape pressings of Bordeaux.

We are a Knightly bunch and light cigarettes for ladies instead of flipping them the match folder and saying: "Here you are."

☆ ☆ ☆

Naturally, no one is permitted to light cigarettes during the Tastevin dinners. It would put a hex on your palate.

Knightly dinners are smokeless. Everbody's taste is sharpened to a razor edge. And Knights who get in a nicotine fit sneak out to the gentleman's lounge and hit a fag.

I am sorry to say there are a number of such sneaky Knights.

I ran into a number of them in the gent's. They looked embarrassed.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since the Brotherhood of Knights began in France most of the members are Frenchmen.

However, they let in a few overseas wine lovers. Sir Winston Churchill is a Knight. Walter Ramage, the Reno innkeeper, is a 16-to-1 martini Knight.

I am a Knight—it is very hard to maintain Knightly bearing when you get into the old Tuxedo and the kids roll on the floor crying: "Padded shoulders! Did they REALLY wear those things?"

If the kids don't cut out that kind of chatter, this Knight intends to joust with them. They will be sorry.

The Confrerie now has chapters in the U.S. In New York, in New Orleans, in Los Angeles, and San Francisco.

I imagine you wonder what kind of rare fodder we Knights get together over?

We start out with champagne. AND THREE kinds of caviar!

I am sorry to report that some Knights slip out to the hotel bar. They have a champagne glass filled with a double martini. Then they come back and pretend they are drinking champagne.

☆ ☆ ☆

Ladies may attend the Knightly dinners. We Knights are a jolly brotherhood. All for wine, women and song. Five kinds of wine were served. (It is not permitted to taste the ladies.)

Chevalier Louis Benoist was present. He makes California wine but we let him in anyway.

Chevalier Trader Vic Bergeron was there. He is a rum man. However, we Knights are broad-minded.

Champagne gives me hiccups. They let me stay anyway.

☆ ☆ ☆

That is the kind of group the Brotherhood is. We allow for human weaknesses.

In France, at the Nuits-St. George chapter, it is the custom to taste the wine and chew it. You make little chewing motions with your jaws. This gives you the flavor.

After you chew it, you spit it on the floor.

You are not supposed to drink gallons of the stuff. Just taste it.

This ancient custom of the wine caves of Burgundy is not permitted at the meetings of the San Francisco chapter.

We can't afford the rug cleaning bill.

—TAL RESIGNS—

Rifai To Form New Jordanian Cabinet

Amman, Jordan (UPI) — Jordanian Premier Wasfi Tal resigned Wednesday and King Hussein asked veteran strongman politician Samir Rifai, who has headed 6 previous governments, to form a new cabinet.

Tal's resignation had been expected after the recent Iraqi and Syrian coups that isolated Jordan as one of the Middle East's two remaining monarchies. Saudi Arabia is the other kingdom.

An announcement that the king had accepted Tal's resignation and named Rifai to replace him was broadcast to the nation by Amman Radio.

Rifai, who last served as premier in 1959, built a reputation for his strong internal policies. He has advocated suppression of all opposition to the monarchy and has drawn bitter attacks from elements backing United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Tal, who had served since January, 1962, had relaxed internal restrictions in Jordan.

Informed observers noted that Jordan had been becoming increasingly isolated as Iraq, Syria and the United Arab Republic moved toward some kind of a federation or union.

Hussein recently was quoted as saying he was "extremely worried" about possible trouble in his kingdom following the coups that put pro-Nasser groups into power in Syria and Iraq.

Not Strong Enough

"One reason trouble is likely is the fact I don't have a government strong enough to hold the people if trouble comes," Hussein was quoted as saying.

(Tal's resignation was predicted early this month in a UPI dispatch from Beirut. The dispatch quoted informed sources as saying that Hussein had narrowly escaped an assassination attempt.

(The sources said Tal was asked to resign following discovery of the plot for "failing to foresee such dangers to the regime and carrying out a too lenient policy toward disloyal elements in general."

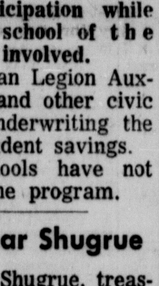

(It was reported at the time that he had already resigned but had been asked to stay on briefly.

(According to the Beirut sources, Hussein was to have been shot down as he went to a mosque to pray. Rebel military elements were then to have occupied key points in Amman and announce a new regime.

(Authorities learned of the plot 25 hours before it was to have taken place and rounded up the plotters, the sources said.)

Dr. Burnham Heads State School Thrift

Dr. A. L. Burnham, educational consultant to the Nebraska State Eeucation Association, has been named to head the new Nebraska School Thrift Committee.

Burnham

Dr. Burnham's appointment was announced by W. B. Millard Jr., Nebraska United States Savings Bonds chairman.

The committee, according to Dr. Burnham, will meet once a year in Lincoln as an advisory group on policy matters connected with the Treasury Department's School Savings Stamp Plan.

The stamp program was widespread in the nation's schools during World War II, but it was dropped in many schools following the war.

Nebraska Off Pace

The department has continued the program vehicle to teach and help pupils learn good saving habits. However, Nebraska school participation has fallen far off the pace set by other Midwestern states, according to Dr. Burnham.

He said several Nebraska elementary and high schools since the first of the year have reinstated the program under a new plan of action designed to reawaken interest and participation while relieving the school of the clerical work involved.

The American Legion Auxiliary, P-TAs and other civic groups are underwriting the venture in student savings.

Lincoln schools have not yet entered the program.

YDs To Hear Shugrue

Richard E. Shugrue, treasurer of the Lancaster County Democratic Party, will address University of Nebraska Young Democrats on "The John Birch Society" at 7 p.m. Thursday in Room 234 of the Student Union.

WIFE KILLER, POLICE CHIEF CHAT

Lawrence Jackson McCoy, 76, sits with pistol in hand in his yard after killing his wife, Jane, at their Pineville, N.C., home Wednesday. With back to camera is Mecklenburg County Police Chief George A. Stephens who is attempting to prevail on McCoy to surrender. McCoy earlier had allowed ambulance attendants to remove his wife's body. Later, a policeman slipped up behind McCoy from the house in the rear and overpowered him.

Gusts Cause 3 Deaths On West Coast

Crescent City, Calif. (AP)—Wind gusts of near-hurricane force and heavy rains blitzed the northern California and southern Oregon coast Wednesday, caused 3 deaths and knocked out power.

Brookings, Gold Beach and Coos Bay, Ore., and Vallejo, Calif., lost power during the middle of the day at the storm's height.

By nightfall, the winds and rains were passing on to the north.

The dead were:

Ben Jewel, 47, a logger whose truck was crushed by a 4-foot-thick redwood tree near Hunter Creek, 20 miles south of Crescent City. Wind gusts of 55 miles an hour felled the tree.

George Austin Poage, 46, Crescent City, whose car skidded off highway 199 in wind-driven rain into an alder tree.

Gino Dardini, 47, Crescent City, washed overboard from a 40-foot fishing boat in high seas. The craft beached, but skipper Dean Holden, 42, Crescent City, was saved.

Two Nebraskans Injured, 35 Hogs Killed In Crash

Newton, Kan. (AP) —Two Nebraska truck drivers were injured Wednesday when their tractor-trailer loaded with 185 hogs ran off U.S. 81 bypass at the eastern edge of Newton.

The Highway Patrol listed the injured as David E. Wood, 26, and Leland Grabowski, 39, both of Beatrice, Neb. They were hospitalized at Newton.

Thirty-five hogs were killed. State maintenance men rounded up the remainder of the animals and constructed a temporary pen for them.

Train To Plane

Rochdale, England (UPI)—British railways provided a special two-coach diesel train to take a Rochdale businessman 10 miles to Manchester to catch a plane. He had complained he missed the regular train because a bulletin board gave the wrong platform number. Railway officials said they were so concerned about his plane they forgot to ask his name.

Davidson Pledges To Fight To Keep 'Little Park Area'

W. H. (Bill) Davidson, candidate for City Council, said Wednesday he would fight to retain the "little park area" east of City Hall.

"I can see no reason for the expenditure of $3,500 for the purpose of creating 14 additional parking spaces for city employes and officials," he said in a prepared statement.

(A building superintendent's report recommending the additional parking area is presently under consideration by the council.)

Davidson suggested the present permanent parking area for city employes and officials west of City Hall be converted to a 30-minute parking area for use by persons transacting business at City Hall who find it difficult to secure parking space close by.

"It would seem city employes and officials could well find private parking facilities to take care of their needs," he added. "They are 'public servants' and should serve the public and not be specifically served by the public."

Film Messenger Slain In Ecuador By Communists

Guayaquil, Ecuador (AP) — A young messenger carrying reels of an anti-Communist film from one police-guarded theater to another was shot, presumably by Communist sympathizers.

The film, "We Will Bury You" was being shown in 4 local theaters, all guarded by police to prevent disturbances. It shows scenes of the Hungarian revolt, the Berlin Wall and Cuba under Fidel Castro.

Police said 3 men in a car followed the messenger, Jorge Granda, 19, and shot him.

Boy Injures Leg With Bullet Play

Robert A. Peterson, 13, of 4901 Sherman, was wounded in the leg Monday while playing with bullets in the basement of his home, police reported Wednesday.

Police said the boy was putting .22-caliber bullets in a vise and hitting them with a hammer when a cartridge fragment entered his left leg. Three stitches were taken in the leg.

Premium Tax So Far This Year $4 Million

So far this year, the State Department of Insurance has collected $4,050,557 in premium taxes, Director Frank Barrett reported Wednesday.

Required annual statements and taxes have been coming in from insurance companies since Jan. 1, but some are still unreported, he added.

The reports contain detailed explanations of each firm's financial condition.

Ag Products Preference Bill Is Killed

The Nebraska Legislature voted 26-9 Wednesday to kill a bill, LB499, proposing to direct government subdivisions to give preferential treatment to those products developed by the Agriculture Department's ag-research program.

In original form, the bill proposed to give preferential treatment to all products grown or manufactured in Nebraska. However, Sen. Peter H. Claussen of Leigh amended the bill to include only ag-research products.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha, who filed the kill motion, called the proposal "a restraint of trade bill. It would build a fence around our state and our neighbors would retaliate against us."

Supporting Syas was Sen. Harold B. Stryker of Rising City. He said the bill "is not the answer, but only adds to our economic woes by supporting the contentions our products are not of good enough quality to face competition."

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, bill introducer, said he felt the measure had merit "in that it seeks to promote what this state has directed the Agriculture Department to do. This is only due justice."

'South Korea Might Follow Path Of Cuba'

Seoul, Korea (UPI) — An American businessman said Wednesday South Korea may be following the path of Cuba.

Lawrence Baker, formerly of Los Angeles, said there is a possibility that Communists have infiltrated the government.

Baker was questioned for several hours by the South Korean Central Intelligence Agency Tuesday after agents arrested retired Brig. Gen. Hwang Hun Chin in his home. Hwang was sought for alleged complicity in a military plot against the ruling junta headed by Gen. Park Chung Hee.

Baker charged his case was "a political pawn to show President Kennedy the contempt of the Korean government."

Baker, an insurance agent and resort owner who served as a U.S. Army lieutenant here, held a news conference after his release. He was asked about an earlier statement he had made that South Korea might be following the path of Cuba.

"At this time I only want to refer you to the book condensation in (a recent) edition of the Readers' Digest," he said. "I think you can change the names, places and dates."

He said the condensation told about the Communist takeover in Cuba and indicated the pattern might fit present-day Korea.

Baker also declared the South Korean intelligence agency should hunt "Red snakes" instead of arresting him. He said he meant Communists, and "there are many in Korea today—South Korea."
